JFK Pushes For World Trade Plan

Says U.S. Must Broaden Its
Exchange Concept

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—On the banks of the Mississippi River where captains of commerce helped build America, President Kennedy called on the nation Friday to maintain its trade leadership among the world's free countries.

America, he said at a new $12-million wharf in one of the nation's greatest ports, stands at a crossroad in its foreign economic policy—"trade or fade."

Open Partnership

"For what we are moving toward is an open partnership among all free nations," he told a crowd of about 5,000 and a four-station television simulcast, "a gradual leveling of trade barriers that will draw the whole non-Communist world together with the strings of economic self-interest."

The city built by great steamers gave the President a thundering welcome. Police Supt. Joseph Giarrusso estimated the crowds that lined the highway and streets from the airport to the wharf at 100,000 at least and another 20,000 greeted him at City Hall where he spoke to the city's school children.

He came south—he handpicked New Orleans for this address—to boost his trade program which he has termed the most important item before this session of Congress.

Means More Jobs

The trade partnership, he said, "will be based on what already comes close to a trillion-dollar economy." And it will be "specifically and initially expressed in terms of a genuine Atlantic partnership—between the Common Market of Europe and the common market of 50 United States."

More trade, he said, will mean more jobs, a firmer national security and a strengthened foreign policy.

"It will produce nearly 90 per cent of the free world's industrial power," he said of his proposed trade expansion program, "the lion's share of its technical skills, two of its greatest markets for raw materials, and a very large portion of the capital for investment and development."

Contagious Program

The program will be contagious, he said, in that it will "extend these benefits of these new opportunities to the continents of Asia, Africa and Latin America . . . and, finally, it will pose to the leaders of the Communist world a direct, deep and abiding challenge."

The President indicated that a few people and industries might be hurt, but the projected trade act contains safeguards to protect them.

But "no one . . . is going to be sacrificed to the national interest with a medal and an empty grocery bag," he said.

On the other hand, the President said the nation could raise its tariffs, restrict the flow of capital, reduce commitments and let its foes slip into the gap.

Lower Tariffs

"But this administration," he declared to an audience that cheered frequently, "was not elected to preside over the resignation of America from its manifest destiny."

What the President's program basically seeks is the power to reduce, and in some cases, wipe out tariffs on a reciprocal basis. From New Orleans, the big jet carried the President and his party to Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., where he reviewed a display of Air Force might.

Booby-Trapped Gasoline Truck Latest Device Of Algeria OAS

ALGIERS (AP)—A booby-trapped gasoline tank truck hurtled driverless toward the native quarter Friday and exploded into a searing fireball short of its mark — a crowded Moslem hillside.

One person was killed and several others were injured in the latest European Secret Army Organization trick to incite Moslem tempers to civil warfare.

Officials believe many Moslem men, women and children would have perished but for a flaw in the truck's booby-trap mechanism.

A few more yards and the tractor with the loaded tank trailer would have thundered into the tightly packed Moslem dwelling places.

As it was, the explosion sent a ball of flame rolling over houses.

Government Says Union Is Red Dominated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The subversive Activities Control Board found Friday that the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers is a Communist-infiltrated organization, and therefore ineligible to represent employees under the National Labor Relations Act.

The board's determination, outlined in a 97-page report, upheld the findings of Francis A. Cherry, a board member who had sat as an examiner in the case.

"It is quite clear from the evidence that many important functionaries of respondent (the union) are and have been members of the Communist party, and that other important functionaries are persons who are and have been amenable to the Communist party," the five-member board said.

The union—for years a major organization representing employees in the copper, lead and zinc mining and refining industries—claimed about 100,000 members in 200 locals in 1959. But more recently, its membership was reported to have dropped to between 50,000 and 60,000.

Assassination Of Nasser Attempt Declared False

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser is sound and well, an informed source says, and spent Friday playing tennis. Published reports that the United Arab Republic's chief executive was wounded by a gunshot last weekend in an assassination attempt were denounced as lies.

The informant said Nasser's tennis game was interrupted briefly as the reports were given, to him but that he smiled and resumed the game.

The blast of the gasoline tanker was one of the most spectacular attacks by the secret army, which hopes to bait the Moslems into vengeful violence that might destroy independence for Algeria.

Following a warning by the exiled nationalist Algerian government in Tunis to use more rigorous measures to crush the secret army, French police Friday sealed off a large district of Algiers where terrorist incidents have been frequent.

ROME—The Italian Parliament failed in unprecedented fifth and sixth ballots to elect a new president. But Foreign Minister Antonio Segni gained in both votes.

Management said the hourly wage increase recommended by an emergency board Thursday for members of 11 nonoperating rail unions was too much and inflationary. The unions said it was neither inflationary nor enough to pay employees fairly.

Apparently, both sides looked to President Kennedy for help. The President, who took an emphatic personal stand in the steel wage dispute last month was in New Orleans Friday for a trade policy speech.

James E. Wolfe, head of the railroads' joint bargaining team, said the proposed pay raises would add $105 million a year to operating costs of the 212 railroads involved. He termed it "inflationary and not a true and reasonable productivity increase."

NATO Looks At Cold War Situation

Red Intentions
Being Reviewed
In Annual Session

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Western alliance was warned by its policy leaders Friday to keep up its nuclear guard despite Soviet soft talk on Berlin.

Headed by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, the foreign ministers of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization used their annual spring policy review for a questioning look at Soviet intentions.

An American source said it is apparent NATO is giving a fairly clear endorsement to the diplomatic efforts of the Kennedy administration to probe the Soviet position on Berlin.

Peace Is Theme

Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, Canadian Foreign Secretary Howard Green and others took up the theme of working for peace—particularly a nuclear test ban—while keeping NATO's nuclear punch intact.

In the first day of their foreign policy review, the ministers ranged over disarmament problems, broad nuclear policy, Berlin and East-West relations in general.

There was little talk of Western disagreements—which exist on how to use nuclear weapons. But there were statements that the Soviet Union's difficulties are more serious. Lord Home particularly cited the trouble Premier Khrushchev faces in an outmoded agricultural system, Red Chinese-Soviet bickering and the smoldering discontent in Communist East Germany.

Reservations On Berlin

Schroeder, who with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville long has had reservations about talks on Berlin, said Bonn was agreeable to continuing the probing talks but the West must not give ground in advance, while the Soviets remain obdurate.

Rusk also indicated the present moment might be a lull—which the West should take advantage of. But Rusk said the West should also beware.

He noted that Soviet intentions on Berlin provided a true weathervane of cold war relationships and that so far in the probing talks, mainly with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, the Soviets have made no specific move to recognize the vital interests of the West.

Three Men Hurt In Fire At Atlas Missile Station

RUSSELL, Okla. (AP) — Three construction workers were injured Friday when fire swept an Atlas missile site under construction at a Strategic Air Force base.

An Air Force spokesman said the fire had been brought under control and that all others working in the deep hole escaped injury.

The three men, taken to a hospital at Mangum, Okla., were treated for smoke inhalation.

The fire broke out after a line ruptured in the hydraulic actuator door control at the top of the silo.

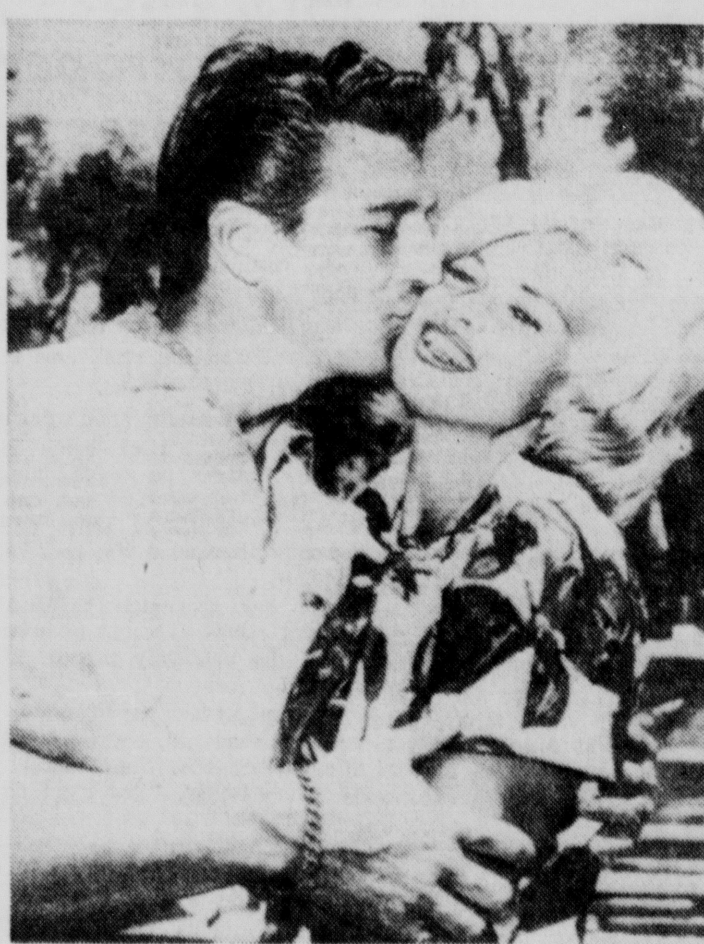

The silo is one of several ringed Altus Air Force Base. Russell is 160 miles southwest of Oklahoma City. There are no missiles in place.

The hospital at Mangum identified those treated as Gerald Floyd, Clyde Jones and Alan Fortune, all of Mangum.

MADRID (UPI)—The government Friday placed three provinces in northern Spain under a state of emergency to end a wave of strikes that has idled 56,000 miners and industrial workers.

A government decree proclaiming the state of emergency in the provinces of Asturias, Vizcaya and Guipuzcoa was to be published in the State Gazette Saturday.

Coal miners in the area have been on strike for 17 days. All efforts to halt the walkout have failed and the government announced earlier Friday night it intended to take "exceptional measures."

Japanese Officials Probe Train Wreck

By ALAN CLINE

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese legislators moved Saturday to investigate a triple train crash which claimed more than 150 lives Thursday as police jailed five trainmen on suspicion of criminal negligence.

Both houses of Parliament scheduled extraordinary sessions Saturday to begin a probe of the second worst train tragedy in Japan since the end of World War II. A crash in 1947 took 184 lives.

Saturday—Children's Day—ended the nation's Golden Week of three national holidays, but authorities stayed on the job working to identify victims of the crash, in a workingman's district three miles north of downtown Tokyo.

Conditions of the bodies made identification difficult. Officials, 24 hours after the crash, posted varying casualty lists.

Police said 154 died and 165 were injured. The department listed 152 dead and 336 injured, 144 seriously.

Police and Japan National Railway officials said the accident resulted because a freight train passed through a red light near Mikawashima station. It jumped the tracks and was sidetracked by a crowded outbound commuter train. Stunned passengers climbed down to the tracks and then an inbound commuter train roared into the wreckage, jumped the tracks and plunged down an embankment.

The engineers and conductors of the freight and outbound commuter train were jailed, along with a station signal man.

"We have determined that a green signal light was an impossibility," said Shoichi Kimura, chief police investigator.

Norifumi Minakami, 38, the freight train engineer, told newsmen he had never misread a signal in 18 years of railroading.

The five, if convicted, face maximum three-year prison terms.

Italians Fail To Elect President

ROME (UPI) — Parliament failed in unprecedented fifth and sixth ballots Friday to elect a new Italian president although Foreign Minister Antonio Segni gained on both votes.

Segni tallied 396 on the fifth ballot and 399 on the sixth, but still short of the required simple majority of 428 in the 854-member, two-chamber Parliament.

A seventh ballot was set for 6 p.m. Saturday (11 a.m. EDT).

SEATO Military Leaders Urge Constant Vigilance

By TONY ESCODA
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Military chiefs of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization warned constant vigilance and readiness to conduct a combined action against Communist aggression.

The warning was issued Friday in a communique after a three-day review here by top military planners for SEATO.

"Everything was assessed," said Lt. Gen. Pelagio Cruz of the Philippines, the conference chairman, when asked whether present tactics against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam had been considered as a guide in similar situations.

He gave the same answer when asked if plans had been taken up to defend Thailand against an attack across the Mekong River from Laos.

Loyal Troops Are Rushed To Carupano

Government Says
Uprising Will Be
Under Control Soon

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — President Romulo Betancourt's government rushed loyal troops into Carupano Friday and sent warplanes menacingly overhead to combat a revolt by 450 marines and military policemen at that coastal city.

An official source said 50 of the rebels quickly deserted and that the rebel garrison—reported to have staged the uprising under the direction of two commissioned officers—was left with only a sergeant in charge.

The Defense Ministry said the rest "will soon be dominated."

Radio Caracas announced the air force called on the marines to surrender or face bombing of their barracks.

Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez told reporters the warplanes had flown over Carupano on observation flights. He denied a rebel declaration, broadcast from Carupano, that the planes machine-gunned the city.

Normal Elsewhere
The minister said all was normal elsewhere. There had been an unofficial report that rebels seized the fishing village of Rio Caribe, 16 miles from Carupano.

A dispatch from Maracaibo, the center of Venezuela's oil industry, said the revolt news had no noticeable effect on that city and activities in the surrounding oil fields were normal.

The uprising was pictured here as having a Red tinge, though political philosophy in Venezuela's armed forces often leans to the right.

A government source said the rebels, seizing the Carupano radio station, broadcast attacks against Betancourt "such as the Communist party uses, accusing him of servility to imperialism."

The revolt leaders were identified by this source as Navy Cmdr. Jesus Molina Villegas and a Capt. Testamack.

Molina was described as the brother of a navy officer under arrest on a charge of subversive activities.

Administration sources said peasants blocked highways around Carupano—a fishing, trading and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

U.S. Explodes No. 4 Nuclear Pacific Shot

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States fired No. 4 of its Pacific nuclear test shots Friday.

The United States began its current series a week ago last Wednesday after the Russians refused to agree to a test ban safeguarded by inspections.

Friday's shot was described by the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission as another device dropped from an airplane.

The explosion took place about 2 p.m., EST, or 9 a.m. test site time, in the vicinity of Christmas Island.

The announcement said the detonation was "in the intermediate yield range," which means it had the probable equivalent of from 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT.

The first two shots, on April 25 and April 27, were of the same general size, but the third one, last Wednesday, was in the million-ton range.

JFK Pushes For World Trade Plan

Says U.S. Must Broaden Its Exchange Concept

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—On the banks of the Mississippi River where captains of commerce helped build America, President Kennedy called on the nation Friday to maintain its trade leadership among the world's free countries.

America, he said at a new $12-million wharf in one of the nation's greatest ports, stands at a crossroad in its foreign economic policy—"trade or fade."

Open Partnership

"For what we are moving toward is an open partnership among all free nations," he told a crowd of about 5,000 and a four-station television simulcast, "a gradual leveling of trade barriers that will draw the whole non-Communist world together with the strings of economic self-interest."

The program will be contagious, he said, in that it will "extend these benefits of these new opportunities to the continents of Asia, Africa and Latin America . . . and, finally, it will pose to the leaders of the Communist world a direct, deep and abiding challenge."

The President indicated that a few people and industries might be hurt, but the projected trade act contains safeguards to protect them.

Railroad Heads, Union Leaders Oppose Report

CHICAGO (AP)—Railroad management and union leaders, protesting against a recommended 10.2-cent wage hike for 450,000 workers, invoked government policy statements Friday to support opposite stands.

Management said the hourly wage increase recommended by an emergency board Thursday for members of 11 nonoperating rail unions was too much and inflationary. The unions said it was neither inflationary nor enough to pay employees fairly.

Apparently, both sides looked to President Kennedy for help. The President, who took an emphatic personal stand in the steel wage-price dispute last month was in New Orleans Friday for a trade policy speech.

In Washington, George E. Leighty, chairman of the unions' joint negotiating committee, said the affected employees—those who do clerical, service and maintenance work but do not actually operate the trains—have had no increase in their real wages since 1958, during a period when real wages rose substantially for other workers.

Termining the recommendation a failure "to make any reduction in this grave inequity," Leighty said. "The guidelines to wage determination that have been nationally announced in recent months are based upon wage increases to accord with, but not to exceed, the rise in general labor productivity in the United States."

"To conform with that policy would have required a wage increase much greater than that which the emergency board recommends."

Leighty said productivity of railroads has risen faster than the national average.

Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez told reporters the warplanes had flown over Carupano on observation flights. He denied a rebel declaration, broadcast from Carupano, that the planes machine-gunned the city.

Normal Elsewhere

The minister said all was normal elsewhere. There had been an unofficial report that rebels seized the fishing village of Rio Caribe, 16 miles from Carupano.

A dispatch from Maracaibo, the center of Venezuela's oil industry, said the revolt news had no noticeable effect on that city and activities in the surrounding oil fields were normal.

The uprising was pictured here as having a Red tinge, though political philosophy in Venezuela's armed forces often leans to the right.

A government source said the rebels, seizing the Carupano radio station, broadcast attacks against Betancourt "such as the Communist party uses, accusing him of servility to imperialism."

The revolt leaders were identified by this source as Navy Cmdr. Jesus Molina Villegas and a Capt. Testamack.

Molina was described as the brother of a navy officer under arrest on a charge of subversive activities.

U.S. Explodes No. 4 Nuclear Pacific Shot

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States fired No. 4 of its Pacific nuclear test shots Friday.

The United States began its current series a week ago last Wednesday after the Russians refused to agree to a test ban safeguarded by inspections.

Friday's shot was described by the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission as another device dropped from an airplane.

The explosion took place about 2 p.m., EST, or 9 a.m. test site time, in the vicinity of Christmas Island.

The announcement said the detonation was "in the intermediate yield range," which means it had the probable equivalent of from 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT.

The first two shots, on April 25 and April 27, were of the same general size, but the third one, last Wednesday, was in the million-ton range.

Bitter Texas Primary Ends At Polls Today

Voting Paves Way For Runoff June 2

By JACK BELL

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Six Democratic candidates for governor pounded down the home stretch Friday night in a bristling primary race studded with political portents for the Kennedy administration.

A million and a half Texans voting Saturday are expected to promote a horse race between Gov. Price Daniel and John B. Connally for the Democratic nomination, while registering disapproval of legalizing race track betting.

Clear to cloudy weather with some showers was in prospect in this sprawling state. Polls open from 6 to 8 a.m., CST. All polls close at 7 p.m.

In a state noted for its upsets, Daniel, seeking an unprecedented fourth term, and Connally, former secretary of the navy under President Kennedy, are political poll favorites to land in a June 2 runoff primary. But the polls showed about 30 per cent of the voters undecided.

Ordinarily this second time around next month would be enough to settle the issue of who will be inaugurated as the state's next governor in January. But resurgent Republicans have some hopes of scoring an upset of their own in the Nov. 6 general election.

In the sixth GOP statewide primary since the first governor was elected in 1845, oilman Jack Cox of Breckenridge, a former Democrat, and Amarillo attorney and Borger publisher Roy Whittenburg are seeking their party's nomination for governor.

Just about every issue that could be raised, from the Billie Sol Estes fraud case to alleged Kennedy administration interference in what Texans regard as running their own state affairs, and the fourth term has been poured into the pot in this bitterly fought primary.

Some of the candidates seeking nominations in the 22 districts and one at-large contests for national House seats have made their conservatism an issue. It also is a factor in the governor's race.

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who was reprimanded for his troop indoctrination tactics, carries the banner of the far right John Birch Society. Walker is not rated as in the running.

Soviet Cosmonaut Tours Steel Mill

Meets Workers At Bethlehem Plant

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The Soviet cosmonaut, Gherman S. Titov, hustled through America's biggest steel mill at Sparrow Point Friday but said, "It is well known our mills are bigger than these."

Titov, shaking hands and signing autographs with the aplomb of a politician, immediately softened his statement, however, by adding, "But you had better ask the experts."

Titov, his wife and a party of about 20 motored from Washington to Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Sparrows Point plant, about a dozen miles southeast of Baltimore, for the inspection tour. They ate lunch downtown with a minimum of fanfare, then headed back for Washington.

Titov appeared more interested in the workers—there are more than 30,000 of them at the huge plant—than in the steel mill itself. He peeled away from his tour on several occasions to chat with the workers, sign autographs, pass out picture postcards of himself or to give away small model space craft.

Titov is scheduled to leave Washington Saturday, after a reception Friday night at the Soviet Embassy, to visit Century 21, the World's Fair being held in Seattle.

He is to leave for San Francisco Sunday night, returning to New York City May 9. He is to leave the United States May 11 or 12.

Tree Experts Go Inside Wye Oak For Diagnosis

EASTON, Md. (AP)—Four tree experts made a diagnostic trip inside the Wye Oak Friday in an effort to determine treatment for Maryland's ailing state tree.

State foresters A. J. Pickall and John Mohr, and private tree experts Hank Carroll and David Ruhl, climbed through an opening in the trunk.

They conferred for an hour inside a hole six feet high, and capable of holding eight men. Ruhl said the cavity makes the trunk almost hollow.

Pickall said the imposing oak "is in no danger of falling be-

Mrs. Titov Gives Proper Responses

By FRANCES LEWINE

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov's pert, brunette wife, went along Friday to tour a hot, dusty steel mill and she said some of it looked like fireworks.

Tamara Titov, 24, a former medical student back home in Moscow, made the rugged tour past blast furnaces and over catwalks in high-heeled shoes and doggedly declared it was very interesting.

Like her spaceman husband, Tamara seems to come up with all of the politically proper responses.

When asked how she liked touring a hot steel mill, she responded through her U.S. State Department interpreter, "You can't do without them."

Wouldn't she rather have seen scenic sights as she did Thursday? she was asked.

"Both," said the 5-foot-tall Mrs. Titov.

As Titov was shown the elaborate works of the Bethlehem Steel Co. at Sparrows Point, she followed closely, wearing a gray steel helmet and protective goggles along with all the rest.

Education Professor Says Boys And Girls Different

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Boys and girls learn in different ways but schools attempt to teach both in the same manner, a University of Maryland speaker said Friday.

The school of the future, said Dr. Walter Waetjen, should take into account this difference in the learning process of boys and girls.

Waetjen, professor of education, was the lead-off speaker at a conference, "The School of the Future," sponsored by the Virginia Education Association. The VEA is a statewide group of white educators. About 540 persons are in attendance.

3 Marylanders Escape Death As Ditch Caves In

FERNDALE, Md. (AP)—Three workmen were rescued Friday after being trapped by a cave-in at a sewer construction site off Carvel Beach in the Pasadena section of Anne Arundel County.

X-rayed at South Baltimore General Hospital for possible internal injuries were Moses King, 55, Leonard Pone, 30, and Alfred N. Robinson, 48, all of Baltimore.

The men were trapped when the sides of a 22-foot deep ditch caved in behind a wooden supporting wall. The weight of sand and gravel forced one retaining wall against the other.

Robinson was half way up a ladder leading from the bottom of the ditch when the cave-in occurred. He was rescued by fellow workers within five minutes.

Rescue squads from Orchard Beach and Riviera Beach pulled Pone from the ditch about an hour later, but it took almost two hours to free King.

Rescuers said when one wall fell against the other, it formed an air pocket and prevented tons of material from burying the men.

Fatally Injured Day After Getting Discharge From Army

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (AP)—Donald Lee Ott, 22, Harpers Ferry, died in Charles Town General Hospital Thursday night soon after he was hit by a bus on Route 9.

The bus was carrying 31 Fairfax, Va., Kiwanians to the horse races at Shenandoah Downs.

Trooper R. R. Truex, who investigated, said Ott apparently stepped into the path of the bus near Mountain Mission Fountain south of Charles Town.

The driver and owner of the bus, Vernoy Franklin, 38, Fairfax, was not charged.

Ott had been discharged from the Army at Ft. Knox, Ky., on May 1 and had arrived home only the night before the accident.

Funeral services were scheduled for Sunday.

Md. Traffic Toll For Year Is 152

TAKOMA PARK, Md. (AP)—Gerald I. Dunayer, 23, of Silver Spring, died at Washington Sanatorium and Hospital Friday from injuries received in an automobile accident April 22.

Dunayer was a passenger in a car which left Kemp Mill Road near Silver Spring, struck an embankment and overturned.

The death increased Maryland's traffic toll for the year to 152, compared with 118 on the same date in 1961.

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—Three students at Western Maryland College have received fellowships for graduate study. They are Joseph E. McDade Jr. of Cumberland, biology; Mary M. Lemkau, Ruxton, sociology; and Lucy Anne Connors, New York City, English.

Gov. Tawes also announced the appointment of three persons to the State Aviation Commission—Richard A. Henson of Hagerstown, Charles D. Briddell of Crisfield, and H. Robert Venables of Camp Springs.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., cited a Maryland drowning in demanding that the Coast Guard lift the secrecy surrounding boating misadventures.

Moss, in a letter to Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, said Coast Guard reports of law violations have been kept under wraps as long as 5½ months. One example he gave was the drowning of one of eleven passengers on a commercial fishing boat in the Chester River in Maryland last July, not made public until January.

Rep. Moss is chairman of a House subcommittee concerned with the public's right to know what its government is doing.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A proposal to start new congregations in 10 states and three Canadian provinces has been approved by the Board of American Missions of the United Lutheran Church in America.

The board, during its quarterly meeting, approved an expansion program in Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee, Maryland, Michigan, New York, North Carolina, Texas and New Mexico, and BALTIMORE (AP)—The Eastern Shore Safety Council says it has contacted Gov. Tawes to propose a memorial to the memory of Bailey Goss, broadcaster killed in an automobile crash.

"A meeting is being arranged," the council says, "for the purpose of determining some type of memorial on the Eastern Shore to the permanent memory of this outstanding adopted Marylander, who has no peer in the fields of sportscasting and announcing."

The funeral for Goss, 49, who died Tuesday, was held Friday.

Cunningham Named Dean Of Law School At Univ. Of Md.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Board of Regents of the University of Maryland appointed William P. Cunningham Friday as dean of the school of law.

Cunningham, 40, succeeds Dean Roger Howell, who retires July 1 after more than 20 years with the university.

In making the recommendation, Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the university, called Cunningham "an effective teacher who is eminently well qualified for the post."

In other action, the board stepped up planning for a $5 million adult education center which will be erected on the College Park campus.

Specifications for the center's first phase, to cost $1,750,000, will be drawn this summer. Construction is to start sometime next year.

CAB Head Quizzed About Capital Area Airports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Alan S. Boyd of the Civil Aeronautics Board said Friday the extent Dulles or Friendship airports are used for Washington service will be determined by the traveling public.

The airlines, he said, will put their planes where the business is. But Rep. Samuel N. Friedel, D-Md., in questioning Boyd at a hearing of the House Interstate Transportation Subcommittee, said the public won't know until they get to Dulles how far they are from Washington.

Baltimore's Friendship International Airport, Friedel said, is being made a scapegoat because, as he put it, Dulles International Airport, under construction at Chantilly, Va., is a white elephant.

Friedel quoted from a recent letter from Daggett H. Howard, general counsel of the Federal Aviation Agency, to Boyd.

The letter requested the CAB to notify Eastern Airlines that the board's approval of the use of Friendship for jet flights serving Washington is limited to the period until Dulles is in operation.

The letter added that Eastern and others will be informed of the administrator's (FAA) opposition to the use of Baltimore Friendship Airport to serve Washington, D.C., after Dulles goes into operation on or about Oct. 1, 1962.

S&L President Sentenced For Mail Fraud

John T. Moton Gets 181 Days

BALTIMORE (AP)—A former president of Wall Street Savings and Loan Association, John T. Moton, was sentenced to 181 days in federal prison Friday and fined $1,000.

He had been convicted of mail fraud in operation of the firm.

U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins noted the 181-day sentence would permit Moto to apply for parole after serving one-third of the term. Moto began serving the sentence Friday.

Judge Watkins also fined the firm, which has offices in Forest Heights, Md., $5, saying the association was technically guilty because of Moton's acts. The fine wasn't heavier, Watkins said, because the firm is now under new management and innocent people would suffer from a larger fine.

Moton, 55, Alexandria, Va., was convicted by Judge Watkins Jan. 25 of falsely advertising that Wall Street handled mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Authority.

He was acquitted of another charge of falsely advertising that deposits were federally insured.

Women Voters Urge Equal Representation

Members of the Frostburg unit of the Allegany County Provisional League of Women Voters went on record as favoring both proposed reapportionment and redistricting as giving the citizens of Maryland more equal representation in the General Assembly in Annapolis and in the House of Representatives in Washington.

This action was taken Thursday night at the conclusion of the unit's meeting at the Thomas G. Pullen School in Frostburg. Both matters were explained by Miss Pauline Hobbs, an English instructor at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Alllegany County would lose seats in the House of Delegates in Annapolis by reapportionment, Miss Hobbs told the women. She pointed out that Allegany County, with a population of 84,169, has six delegates in the lower chamber in Annapolis the same number available for Baltimore County which has a population of 492,428.

On the other hand, a redistricting of Maryland into eight near equal Congressional Districts would benefit Allegany County. Maryland had a population of 3,100,689. On that basis each of its Congressmen should represent 387,586 persons.

However, the total population of the five counties in the Sixth Congressional District is 608,666. These same two topics will be discussed at a meeting of the league's Cumberland unit at 8 p. m. Monday at Central YMCA.

Safety Engineers Meet At ABL

The Western Maryland Safety Engineering Society met recently at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory. Members were guests of Hercules Powder Company at dinner in the plant cafeteria.

B. R. Lewis, safety superintendent, discussed the ABL safety program, pointing out that in addition to hazards faced by all industrial plants, ABL has special problems created by the type of materials handled.

E. N. Griffin, safety engineer, showed two films on rocket propulsion and solid propellants developed by Hercules.

Lonaconing Youth, Juvenile Sentenced In $15 Theft Case

An 18-year-old Lonaconing youth yesterday was sentenced to 30 days in Allegany County jail on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

John E. Martin was sentenced by Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin, who also sent a 15-year-old Lonaconing boy to the Maryland Training School as the result of a breaking and entering and theft of $15 from Marshall's Confectionery on Main Street, Lonaconing on Sunday April 29.

The 15-year-old boy, said juvenile court authorities, broke into the store in broad daylight, took $10 from a cash drawer and five dollars from a cancer fund canister.

The other youth was a "look-out" for the younger boy who had planned the breaking and entering several days ahead of time, the authorities said.

He was charged with being a delinquent minor, Tic. Robert C. Dishong investigated the case.

Speaker at the dinner meeting will be Dr. Lyman G. Bonner, Wilmington, Del., director of development of the Explosives department of Hercules Powder Company.

C. S. Catherman Jr. will be toastmaster at the annual dinner.

Robert C. Petersen, manager, said yesterday the Chamber expects at least 200 reservations for the event.

Hospital Grants Wage Increase

The board of governors of Memorial Hospital has voted to grant all employees of the institution an approximate five per cent pay increase.

John A. Moberly, superintendent, in announcing the increase yesterday, said that despite the action the hospital at this time does not contemplate an increase in rates to patients.

Moberly said the increase was also to go into effect on June 1 and is being granted in an effort to keep the wages of the hospital's employees in line with salaries being paid by private industry.

The superintendent noted that the increase is in keeping with the board's policy to pay the highest salaries possible and yet keep the rates charged to patients as low as possible and still operate the hospital within a balanced budget.

Moberly said a continued concentrated effort is being made by the departments operating within the hospital to operate as economically as possible in order that rates to the patients will not have to be increased and still enable the hospital to render first class service to those requiring hospitalization.

The hospital employees also received a "blanket" increase in salary last year.

Curb On Federal Unit Vote Dispute Won't Be Spending Urged Part Of Apportionment Case By Brewster

By The Associated Press

While the cost of maintaining freedom is great, Daniel B. Brewster, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate nomination, said Friday night "there is an end to what the federal government can and should spend."

Certain programs must be pursued vigorously, and others never embarked upon or drastically curtailed," Brewster declared in a televised speech.

Specifically, Brewster said that while foreign aid must be continued and has worked well in checking communism, "in other areas, there has been waste and poor administration."

At home, Brewster said conservation of natural resources, a coordinated transportation policy, and proper medical care for the aged and poor need attention.

"But the government itself cannot attempt to solve all the difficult problems of living," Brewster added. "One area where we clearly have too much governmental intervention is on the farm."

"I recommend that our present federal farm program be drastically reduced. It is costly, unrealistic and unworkable."

Besides being a lawyer and congressman from the 2nd District for the past two terms, Brewster also operates a large farm in Baltimore County and is president of the Maryland State Fair.

Brewster also called "unfair and unwise" the allocation of defense contracts in California. He said it is partly responsible for the number of people out of work in Maryland.

Hospital Staff Is Briefed On Fire Safety

Personnel of Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning were shown phases of the fire evacuation and safety program of the hospital during a demonstration by members of the Cumberland Fire Department.

John E. Trost, department fire inspector, explained the operation of a portable hand fire extinguisher to the nurses and other personnel of the hospital.

Lt. Ralph Mahaney and members of the fire department from South End station instructed members of the hospital fire brigade on the use of stand pipe hose located on the premises.

The brigade is made up of maintenance men and orderlies of the hospital. Edward Harvey, chief engineer at the institution, is fire marshal.

The local fire department, said Mr. Trost, has revised the fire evacuation plan of the hospital where fire drills are conducted periodically. Similar drills are also conducted at the nurses' home.

Plans for better fire protection at the hospital include the installation of corridor doors at certain distances and a proposed new coded alarm system.

A small booklet explaining what to do in the event of fire will be distributed to hospital personnel. A larger book with more details will be distributed in each hospital department including the operating room, dispensary, pharmacy etc.

The duties of each member of the hospital roster is outlined in the book. Many recommendations made by Mr. Trost have been incorporated in the fire evacuation and safety plan.

A similar plan has been adopted at Sacred Heart Hospital, he said.

Ida Mae Sparks, 16, of RD 2, Everett, Pa., yesterday afternoon sustained a fractured left pelvis and body lacerations when she was hit by a car on Pennsylvania Route 26 about a tenth of a mile north of Everett.

Police said the driver of the car was Mrs. J. Craig Berringer, 52, of Martinsburg, Pa. who was traveling south on the highway.

The girl who was standing along the west berm of the highway near her younger brother apparently didn't observe the oncoming car and stepped into its path. She was taken to Bedford County Memorial Hospital following the accident at 2:55 p. m. (EST), according to police, who said no charges were filed.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Judge O. Bowie Duckett set May 21 for hearing arguments on apportionment of the Maryland legislature Friday but refused to let the state's unit vote system of nominating candidates in the primary election be brought into it.

The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation said it would file a separate proceeding before the May 15 primary, possibly early next week, to protect any candidate who might receive the statewide popular vote but lose the nomination by not taking enough county or Baltimore City "units."

Judge Duckett said the reapportionment case, in which he is to decide whether present make-up of the legislature discriminates against metropolitan residents in violation of their constitutional rights, is complex enough without bringing the unit vote into it.

"It would confuse the issue, delay the decision on its merits and is otherwise objectionable," the judge said. He also pointed out that time is of the essence in ruling on the reapportionment question.

If the court declares invalid present sections of the state constitution providing for make-up of the House and Senate, Gov. Tawes plans to call a special session of the legislature for corrective legislation to be passed before June 1.

At a pre-trial conference in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court Friday, attorneys for both sides indicated that the trial should not take more than one day.

It is possible that the governor will have the legislature in session later in the same week if Judge Duckett rules it has to be reapportioned to give populous areas more votes.

Simmons Is Convicted

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — A Randolph County Court jury of six men and six women Friday convicted William C. Simmons, 50, Elkins, of second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Donald Leatherwood, 21, a Davis & Elkins College senior.

State Sen. Dayton Stemple of Philippi, counsel for Simmons, moved that the verdict be set aside and a new trial be granted. Visiting Judge Francis Warder of Grafton deferred sentencing pending ruling on the motion.

The verdict carries a prison term of 5-to-18 years. Leatherwood, of Bethesda, Md., was fatally wounded at Simmons' home — a converted bus — last Oct. 21.

Hospital Grants Wage Increase

The board of governors of Memorial Hospital has voted to grant all employees of the institution an approximate five per cent pay increase.

John A. Moberly, superintendent, in announcing the increase yesterday, said that despite the action the hospital at this time does not contemplate an increase in rates to patients.

Moberly said the increase will go into effect on June 1 and is being granted in an effort to keep the wages of the hospital's employees in line with salaries being paid by private industry.

The superintendent noted that the increase is in keeping with the board's policy to pay the highest salaries possible and yet keep the rates charged to patients as low as possible and still operate the hospital within a balanced budget.

Moberly said a continued concentrated effort is being made by the departments operating within the hospital to operate as economically as possible in order that rates to the patients will not have to be increased and still enable the hospital to render first class service to those requiring hospitalization.

The hospital employees also received a "blanket" increase in salary last year.

Curb On Federal Unit Vote Dispute Won't Be Spending Urged Part Of Apportionment Case By Brewster

By The Associated Press

While the cost of maintaining freedom is great, Daniel B. Brewster, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate nomination, said Friday night "there is an end to what the federal government can and should spend."

Certain programs must be pursued vigorously, and others never embarked upon or drastically curtailed," Brewster declared in a televised speech.

Specifically, Brewster said that while foreign aid must be continued and has worked well in checking communism, "in other areas, there has been waste and poor administration."

At home, Brewster said conservation of natural resources, a coordinated transportation policy, and proper medical care for the aged and poor need attention.

"But the government itself cannot attempt to solve all the difficult problems of living," Brewster added. "One area where we clearly have too much governmental intervention is on the farm."

"I recommend that our present federal farm program be drastically reduced. It is costly, unrealistic and unworkable."

Besides being a lawyer and congressman from the 2nd District for the past two terms, Brewster also operates a large farm in Baltimore County and is president of the Maryland State Fair.

Brewster also called "unfair and unwise" the allocation of defense contracts in California. He said it is partly responsible for the number of people out of work in Maryland.

It would confuse the issue, delay the decision on its merits and is otherwise objectionable," the judge said. He also pointed out that time is of the essence in party's convention. The candidates vote but loses the unit count his ruling on the reapportionment question.

If the court declares invalid present sections of the state constitution providing for make-up of the House and Senate, Gov. Tawes plans to call a special session of the legislature for corrective legislation to be passed before June 1.

At a pre-trial conference in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court Friday, attorneys for both sides indicated that the trial should not take more than one day.

It is possible that the governor will have the legislature in session later in the same week if Judge Duckett rules it has to be reapportioned to give populous areas more votes.

Simmons is Convicted

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — A Randolph County Court jury of six men and six women Friday convicted William C. Simmons, 50, Elkins, of second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Donald Leatherwood, 21, a Davis & Elkins College senior.

State Sen. Dayton Stemple of Philippi, counsel for Simmons, moved that the verdict be set aside and a new trial be granted. Visiting Judge Francis Warder of Grafton deferred sentencing pending ruling on the motion.

The verdict carries a prison term of 5-to-18 years.

Leatherwood of Bethesda, Md., was fatally wounded at Simmons' home — a converted bus — last Oct. 21.

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Judge O. Bowie Duckett set May 21 for hearing arguments on apportionment of the Maryland legislature Friday but refused to let the state's unit vote system of nominating candidates in the primary election be brought into it.

The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation said it would file a separate proceeding before the May 15 primary, possibly early next week, to protect any candidate who might receive the statewide popular vote but lose the nomination by not taking enough county or Baltimore City "units."

Judge Duckett said the reapportionment case, in which he is to decide whether present make-up of the legislature discriminates against metropolitan residents in violation of their constitutional rights, is complex enough without bringing the unit vote into it.

"It would confuse the issue, delay the decision on its merits and is otherwise objectionable," the judge said. He also pointed out that time is of the essence in party's convention. The candidates vote but loses the unit count his ruling on the reapportionment question.

have 51 per cent of the seats clude the unit vote in the same those in the Senate. They say this reapportionment, deprives them of a constitutional, Alfred L. Scanlan of Bethesda, right to fair representation, chief counsel for the committee.

The unit vote system entered told Judge Duckett Friday that if the picture this week. It provides the motion is denied he will either that each county and Baltimore file a separate suit in Circuit City district shall have the same Court next week asking that it number of votes at state party be joined to the reapportionment conventions as it has seats in the issue or take the issue to federal court in Baltimore.

He said it was important that popular vote, even by a one-vote this protective action be taken the margin, he gets all that county's before the primary, so that if unit votes for nomination at his home candidate wins the popular party's convention. The candidates vote but loses the unit count his ruling on the reapportionment question.

Secrets Of Charm

Try A Family Pow-wow

Establishing a family council hour as a regular part of your life will do much to disperse resentments, keep tempers from simmering and smooth the nature of all who live under one roof. When all concerned openly discuss the mechanics of living in one household, the serious problems as well as the little gripes, personality conflicts, property and personal rights inevitably leads to happier and more harmonious relationships.

At these sessions, father can air his budget squawks, review report cards and discuss chores that have been slighted or ignored. The children can each "sound off" concerning their private or mutual concerns. Mother can bring up the results of untidiness, tardiness and point out any deficiencies in cooperation that are hampering the family's progress.

Guided with care and wisdom, such discussions not only contribute to the home's serenity, but help each person to cope in sane and civilized fashion with the problems and people met outside the family domain.

To make these family pow-wows successful calls for the utmost diplomacy on your part. By bringing every ounce of your powers into play, the male contingent will be moved down by your charm and like it!

Choosing the propitious time for a family council is the first step in assuring success. Never let such a session get under way when the man of the house is tired or rushed. Rule out all breakfast or before-dinner discussions. When you know a touchy problem has arisen, let a little time elapse to allow for cooling off before admitting the subject to further discussion.

Once a conference begins, rule out sarcasm in favor of tactful language. By example, encourage all to use tact to scout the territory before eliciting criticism. This can be a difficult task for those with a compelling need for expression of a grievance, but excellent practice for getting on in the world.

Intercept any intolerant reception of an idea immediately, so all learn to approach problems with as much impersonality as can be commanded. By such procedures, the members of your family will not only live more happily together but gain in ability to manage all their business and social relationships. You and yours will be singly popular in your community!

Answers Your Problems

DEAR READERS: Well — I'm in the soup. Right along with the crackers I said it was all right to crumble. The following letter was written by a Catholic priest.

DEAR ANN: For years I have been an apostle of proper eating habits and in one sentence you seek to destroy all my work. I have written a handbook on proper eating habits for young seminarians. I quoted my authority about the breaking of crackers. It is Esquire Etiquette For Men, Lippincott, 1960. It had this to say: "Only the slob breaks saltines into his soup. If a cracker is meant to go into the soup it is meant to go in whole. Croutons should be spooned directly into the soup; oyster crackers should first be put on the butter plate or on the cloth, then dropped into the soup, whole — a few at a time."

The good Father continues: "For years I have been telling people it is improper to break up crackers in the soup, and now you come along and give the opposite advice. What is your authority? Can you enlighten me?" — FATHER L. G.

DEAR FATHER: Lippincott and your handbook to the contrary notwithstanding, I'm not backing down one inch. Good manners should make good sense. The polite person is one who is considerate. He does not offend or make others uncomfortable.

When one sits down to a bowl of soup, the question should NOT be, "What does Lippincott say?" — but "What is sensible?" Crumbling crackers into the soup is not offensive and it makes a great deal more sense than biting into crispy saltines and dropping cracker crumbs all over your vest.

So, in reply to your query, Father, my authority is common sense and logic and you can't beat that, can you?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I appreciate your sensible down-to-earth advice and would like to have your views on something which has been bothering me. I received a birthday gift from a woman I considered a good friend. When I opened the beautifully wrapped box I was astonished to

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four equal reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Clearance, weather information, assigned altitudes and airways, landing instructions... we take these for granted. We simply fly from point to point, our progress and safety undergirded by an intricate web of scientific communication.

Perhaps that's why, today, so many assume that some celestial system ought to assure everyone comfort, success and happiness.

But the control tower can operate only because every pilot respects its purpose and has faith in its instructions.

Our moral progress and our spiritual security are the constant concern of the Church. Its worship and guidance undergird the lives of all who respect its Purpose, and have faith in the truths of God which it teaches.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Clearance, weather information, assigned altitudes and airways, landing instructions... we take these for granted. We simply fly from point to point, our progress and safety undergirded by an intricate web of scientific communication.

Perhaps that's why, today, so many assume that some celestial system ought to assure everyone comfort, success and happiness.

But the control tower can operate only because every pilot respects its purpose and has faith in its instructions.

Our moral progress and our spiritual security are the constant concern of the Church. Its worship and guidance undergird the lives of all who respect its Purpose, and have faith in the truths of God which it teaches.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD. — Despite the sensational Rosemary Clooney-Jose Ferrer divorce suit, there are more estranged movie couples currently hoping to avoid telling it to the judge than plotting the final step. Among them, Eddie Fisher.

In the first deep hurt of losing Elizabeth Taylor, Eddie was in a frame of mind to give her what she wanted — a quick divorce. Now with his own career in high again, it jolly well isn't convenient to take the six weeks out to oblige the Nevada laws — and Liz — by making the divorce move himself. Latest talk is, he's going to let Elizabeth do the divorcing. It was her idea.

Janet Leigh, who still considers her parting from Tony Curtis merely a separation isn't letting the talk about Tony and young Christine Kaufmann hurry her into a quick divorce action. She could change her mind. "We'll see. No hurry," she says.

And Pamela (Mrs. Cesare) Danova tells me she is not planning to divorce her actor husband. "We have been estranged for eight months and I have brought our children home from Rome because I want them to grow up Americans. But I have no intention of even discussing an immediate divorce."

Only difference between President Kennedy's mass press conferences in Washington and the one held last night by Rock Hudson at Disneyland, was in the age of the reporters. Rock's "interviewers" ranged between 10 and 16 years.

The event was the first annual convention, a dinner held in the heart of Disneyland, and 125 young newswomen were flown to trips to the coast by their proud publications. Rock delighted one and all by telling them he used to be a newsboy himself. The "press conference" followed Rock's presentations of the awards and all 125 of the conventioners took notes on "exclusive" stories sent to their respective publications.

Sometimes it is hard to understand the new crop of young stars with their casual attitude dinner, had the thrill of a lifetime when the U.S. Navy Band played his and Ned Washington's tribute to Jacqueline Kennedy. "The First Lady Waltz." President Kennedy later complimented Jimmy and Ned on the lovely tune. Quite a coincidence: Corinne Griffith's ex-husband is named George Marshall, the owner of Washington Redskins. And the director of her book, "Papa's Delicate Condition," at Paramount, is named George Marshall.

Speaking of "Papa's Delicate Condition," Jackie Gleason, who plays Papa, is having his famous Rolls Royce with its equally famous bar driven to the coast to keep him in "condition" while making the movie.

Horse owner Andy Crevelin, who frequently has an entry in the Kentucky Derby, spent yesterday night this year far away from old Kentucky — at the State Bros. With pretty Gloria Grey.

Our ambassador at large to South America, Shep Morrison, took redheaded Cara Williams to dinner at the Islander last night.

Henry King, literally one of our highest flying directors, piloted his own plane to the Civil Air Patrol dinner with his favorite praise agent Dave Epstein making the trip with him.

Alec Guinness receives an honorary Doctor of Literature Degree from Boston University in the fall and it would make them very happy if he comes over here to get it in person.

Gregory Peck is getting mighty sick of that 1930-style haircut he sports in "To Kill a Mockingbird" (without sideburns and the asked U-I to hold all advertising photos until he can bring himself up to date again).

Came in handy when Jimmy Darren's ever-lovin' wife Ely Norland told him she wanted to celebrate her birthday dinner at the Luau. Jimmy had been shooting scenes there all day for "Diamond Head" so he just took off his make-up and ordered dinner without leaving the place.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Those two nice people Janet Blair and Nick Mayo tell me it's not true that they are expecting another little Mayo. "We have our hands full with two current and very active little Mayos," Nick told me. "Janet has some big contracts to fulfill at the present time and well into the future. So, to keep the record straight—we're not on the stock list."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD. — Despite the about their careers. A case in point is Yvette Mimieux. Jose Ferrer divorce suit, there are more estranged movie couples currently hoping to avoid telling it to the judge than plotting the final step. Among them, Eddie Fisher.

In the first deep hurt of losing Elizabeth Taylor, Eddie was in a frame of mind to give her what she wanted — a quick divorce. Now with his own career in high again, it jolly well isn't convenient to take the six weeks out to oblige the Nevada laws — and Liz — by making the divorce move himself. Latest talk is, he's going to let Elizabeth do the divorcing. It was her idea.

Janet Leigh, who still considers her parting from Tony Curtis merely a separation isn't letting the talk about Tony and young Christine Kaufmann hurry her into a quick divorce action. She could change her mind. "We'll see. No hurry," she says.

And Pamela (Mrs. Cesare) Danova tells me she is not planning to divorce her actor husband. "We have been estranged for eight months and I have brought our children home from Rome because I want them to grow up Americans. But I have no intention of even discussing an immediate divorce."

Only difference between President Kennedy's mass press conferences in Washington and the one held last night by Rock Hudson at Disneyland, was in the age of the reporters. Rock's "interviewers" ranged between 10 and 16 years.

The event was the first annual convention, a dinner held in the heart of Disneyland, and 125 young newsmen were flown to trips to the coast by their proud publications. Rock delighted one and all by telling them he used to be a newsboy himself.

The "press conference" followed Rock's presentations of the awards and all 125 of the conventioners took notes on "exclusive" stories sent to their respective publications.

Sometimes it is hard to understand the new crop of young stars with their casual attitude dinner, had the thrill of a lifetime when the U.S. Navy Band played his and Ned Washington's tribute to Jacqueline Kennedy, "The First Lady Waltz." President Kennedy later complimented Jimmy and Ned on the lovely tune.

Quite a coincidence: Corinne Griffith's ex-husband is named George Marshall (he owns the Washington Redskins). And the director of her book "Papa's Delicate Condition," at Paramount, is named George Marshall.

Speaking of "Papa's Delicate Condition," Jackie Gleason, who plays Papa, is having his famous Rolls Royce with its equally famous bar driven to the coast to keep him in "condition" while making the movie.

Horse owner Andy Crevolin, who frequently has an entry in the Kentucky Derby, spent yesterday night this year far away from old Kentucky—at the Slate Bros. With pretty Gloria Grey.

Our ambassador at large to South America, Shep Morrison, took a redheaded Cara Williams to dinner at the Islander last night.

Henry King, literally one of our highest flying directors, piloted his own plane to the Civil Air Patrol dinner with his favorite praise agent Dave Epstein making the trip with him.

Alec Guinness receives an honorary Doctor of Literature Degree from Boston University in the fall and it would make them very happy if he comes over here to get it in person.

Gregory Peck is getting mighty sick of that 1930-style haircut he sports in "To Kill a Mockingbird" (without sideburns and parted down the middle) so he's asked U-I to hold all advertising photos until he can bring himself up to date again.

Came in handy when Jimmy Darren's ever-lovin' wife Ely Norland told him she wanted to celebrate her birthday dinner at the Luau. Jimmy had been shooting scenes there all day for "Diamond Head" so he just took off his make-up and ordered dinner without leaving the place.

Russia Will Boost Trade Competition

One way of predicting what Soviet Russia will be up to is to keep a watchful eye on personnel changes within the ruling hierarchy. The turnover in the Communist Party Presidium and in the Premier's cabinet is frequently rapid, but basically the same faces keep cropping up.

The changes often reflect upheavals within the Communist Party structure. Thus, when Andrei P. Kirilenko, party boss from Sverdlosk, regains a full seat on the Presidium despite having been dropped from that body only last October, it is taken to mean that Khrushchev, Kirilenko's patron, has won a minor dispute.

Another development at the recently-concluded session of the Supreme Soviet deserves attention—appointment of a high government agency to coordinate the Soviet Union's expanding program of foreign trade and economic aid. This is a clear warning to the West that the Kremlin intends to compete, as effectively as it can, in this field.

But it may encounter difficulties. Russian agriculture continues to lag badly, and is not producing enough to meet the needs of the population. Khrushchev lays the blame at Stalin's doorstep, yet his own measures have not proved themselves. Moreover, Russia lacks capital, an essential ingredient in foreign trade and aid. Among the Supreme Soviet's actions was the cancellation of a proposed world's fair to be held in Moscow in 1967.

It would be surprising, however, if agricultural shortages and lack of capital forestalled Russian trade efforts. Russian Communists now regard this as essential to their effort to spread the Communist revolution around the world. The sacrifice will be on the home front, not elsewhere.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Plain Civics

My friend and colleague, Westbrook Pegler, wrote a sentence which gives me an opportunity to return to a favorite subject, namely, the increasing lack of precision in describing our form of government. We have three coeval branches in our government: the Legislative, Executive and Judicial. They are equal in authority, but there is a system of checks and balances in the Constitution which ties them together while simultaneously keeping them apart.

The Executive consists of an elected Administration which includes the President, the Cabinet, the independent agencies and more recently, such war agencies as the National Security Council, the Atomic Energy Commission, etc.

The President is absolute in his authority over the Cabinet. Our Constitution makes no provision for independent Cabinet officers. They are all secretaries to the President, assistants to him, the effective servants of his policy. Pegler says:

"The Department of Justice was so partial to one administration whose creature it happened to be that the idea of enforcement of laws against the party's own henchmen was ridiculous in a bitter way."

If an Attorney General disagrees with the policies of his President, he is always free to resign and to make a public statement as to the reason for his resignation. In Great Britain, of course, it is different. Each Cabinet Officer is elected to Parliament and therefore holds office in his own right. He does not resign from Parliament if he leaves the Cabinet. He may defend his course by a speech in Parliament, as a result of which the Government might fall and a new election would have to be held.

Our form of government has a long history, preceding the Constitution (1788). Since the Constitution was adopted, there have been 23 Amendments to it; the first ten, generally referred to as the Bill of Rights, are really an integral part of the original document and some of them appeared earlier in some colonial charters and in the Constitutions of newly-formed states. Without them, the Constitution could not have been adopted.

The Prohibition Amendment was cancelled out by the Anti-Prohibition Amendment.

Of the 23 Amendments, therefore, 12 have not really been amendments. The remaining 11 in no substantial manner altered our form of government, which is today, perhaps the most unchanged form of government on Earth. And in it, the Department of Justice is an office which is part of the Administration and is therefore under the final direction of the President who alone is responsible to the citizens for it at an election.

A citizen who finds himself enmeshed in a quarrel with the Department of Justice has three possible recourses:

1. He may go into the Courts and bring a complaint either as to law or equity. The Federal Courts, on the whole, have a long history of jealous independence of the Administration and the Attorney General does not necessarily win his case:

2. He might appeal to a Congressional Committee for an investigation. This is a political act, because Congress is a political body:

3. The citizen might appeal to the President, to his Senator or Representative, or to the Press.

It is unfortunate that in this generation, even informed persons speak loosely of our form of government and of the responsibilities of particular officials. Perhaps a reason for this is that as the Executive has grown so enormously and so many personalities emerge into headlines the centers of authority and responsibility are often obscured.

For instance, the foreign policy of this country is the responsibility of the President. He alone makes final decisions. The Secretary of State is the President's assistant in this field. In the Kennedy Administration there are many men of outstanding reputations. Some even possess political power and have followings. Adlai Stevenson, for instance, was twice a candidate for the Presidency; Averell Harriman had been Governor of New York State; "Soapy" Williams of Michigan.

But the final responsibility rests with the President. Any one of these men may agree or disagree with him but the decision is his. When William Jennings Bryan, several times a candidate for President and beloved by many Democrats, disagreed with President Woodrow Wilson, it was Bryan who got out. When James Byrnes disagreed with President Truman, Byrnes got out.

Under our system, on the Executive side there are no "men around the President," no "ruling circles," no "assistant Presidents." There is only an elected President.

New Withholding Tax Plan Wasteful, Unjust

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — If there's one issue that the American people can understand, it is that nobody—not even the government—is entitled to take away from the citizen money that belongs to him alone and is not due for taxes.

It now is estimated by the Internal Revenue Service that approximately $200 million will be taken from the citizens for different periods of time each year and then returned later to the lawful owners. Many people in retirement will be affected by the proposed law that would require corporations, banks and other institutions to withhold a certain proportion of dividends and interest and pay it directly to the government every month or every three months.

Will the citizen get any interest for the time his money is in the government's hands? Nobody has come forward yet with a practical plan even to compute such interest. This "over-withheld" money certainly will not be earning compound interest for the citizen at the bank during the period he has been deprived of it.

The Administration's argument is that too much dividend and interest money is escaping taxation altogether and, in effect, that "the end justifies the means." This may make things easier for the tax collector, but can it make things easier for the consciences of members of Congress who know they will be authorizing a confiscation of private property? The fact that this confiscation is for short intervals each year doesn't lessen its injustice. One of the ten commandments says something to this effect: "Thou shalt not take what doesn't belong to you." There has never been any amendment to this which exonerates the government itself, including the Congress, for participation in such a wrongful act.

It has been contended that all these problems will be taken care of by the device of exemption certificates which the citizen who owes no tax will file in advance with his bank or savings institution. But this is not all of the problem. It doesn't cover the case of the citizen who must pay a small tax and who finds a larger percentage of dividend or interest income has been automatically withheld than he really owed.

Does a "refund," therefore, completely meet the question of morality when the citizen doesn't owe all of the tax that is to be imposed on him? Is it right for the government to collect a single dollar in taxes that doesn't belong to it and which the citizen has not had an opportunity to receive or calculate in his regular income tax return?

Mortimer Caplin, Commissioner

of the Internal Revenue Service, who is a very able man with long experience in the field of tax law, has just made a speech in which he estimates that nearly seven per cent of the total collected by the "withholding" plan on dividends and interest will have to be refunded by the government. He says that maybe as many as 2,000,000 taxpayers have various deductions for medical expenses and old-age allowances which might bring their tax obligation below the amounts withheld by the government. He says:

"For taxable individuals in the lower-income brackets there may be some over-withholding, perhaps $200 million of over-withholding out of an estimated $3 billion of total withholding."

The commissioner suggested that these taxpayers could get this money back annually or, if they prefer, "they can, under certain clear circumstances, get quarterly refunds of over-withheld tax."

While the government expects this procedure to be "rapid and simple," it will take time. Especially, it will necessitate careful examination of the individual income tax returns and applications for refunds. It imposes a hardship. It will mean extra expense to the various institutions which have withheld the money, as well as expense to the citizen when he seeks to get his money back.

An educational campaign carried on by the government through the banks and corporations could recover, with little expense, a great deal of those taxes which, largely through ignorance, are probably being omitted by small taxpayers, some of whom leave their money in the banks to earn compound interest and do not have the means of calculating concurrently what they owe in tax.

The whole controversy seems likely to become an issue in the Congressional elections. Mail to members of Congress is larger on this question than it has been on any issue in many years. Nobody should object to paying what he owes the government for taxes, but plenty of objections are being voiced against paying money the citizen does not owe and against denial of the use of this money while government, with its red tape, is taking maybe months to figure out how much was never owed and must be returned to its rightful owner.

Also, by the time a refund is made, another "withholding" operation has taken away a sum equal to the one just refunded. The citizen will have to apply continuously for refunds and may always have in a "withheld" status $100 or more that he never owed in taxes in the first place.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PRICE OF FAME — Astronaut John Glenn has his difficulties. And high on the list is what to do about the mountain of mail he's been receiving ever since he electrified the nation and the free world by successfully orbiting the earth three times.

Glenn is receiving several big sacks of mail daily. Much of it is laudatory — from Americans and from foreigners who want to express their high regard for him. Some of it contains the usual crank requests for him to lend his name or his money to some "worthy cause." And, of course, some of it contains invitations for him to appear at banquets, fairs and in support of various activities.

Among all this deluge of letters are such things as his paycheck, bills and the normal flow of needed material that any person receives in his mail. Glenn's problem is to winnow out these personal missives from the thousands he receives.

It's no easy task, and while he hasn't said so publicly, he's beginning to wish that some of his hero worshippers would do so unwisely, rather than through the postal service.

BEEF AGAINST ADS — Sen. Maurine Neuberger, Oregon Democrat, is playing to the hilt her role as defender and protector of the American housewife. She's been playing an active part in Senate investigations into false labeling and false claims on a myriad of consumer goods.

Recently she wrote to her Oregon constituents: "Are you aware of the dangling comparative question?"

"Scrub washes 10 times whiter." "Mealy-meat tastes better." "Tobacco smokes cooler."

Then, she asked, "What has happened to the old-fashioned 'than'?"

"Whiter than what? Better than what? Cooler than what?"

Some of her office staff are wondering whether her broadside is going to affect advertising programs in her home state.

Keep Iron Tablets Away From Youngsters

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Iron poisoning occurs rather frequently in young children when they swallow too many pills or capsules containing this mineral. A handful of tablets will make them violently ill and fatalities have been reported. Iron irritates the gastrointestinal tract and the ensuing damage brings on vomiting and diarrhea; some develop shock, pallor, and coma.

It is able to tolerate larger amounts of iron but individual variations occur. Some men and women get diarrhea after consuming one or two tablets a day. If they need iron for anemia, they must try different products to find the least irritating type. A few anemic persons are forced to take the longer cure by concentrating on foods rich in iron.

Many parents do not regard iron pills as poisonous and foolishly place a bottle on the kitchen shelf or in a medicine cabinet or bedroom drawer. Carelessness along this line is demonstrated by several recorded instances of accidental poisoning in the records of the poison control center of the New York City department of health.

In one instance, the father had been painting the medicine cabinet in the bathroom and put the medications, including a box of iron pills, in the bedroom. His 22 month old boy swallowed four pills, thinking they were candy.

The tyke became nauseated, vomited, and was taken to the hospital where his stomach was washed out. Shortly thereafter he developed diarrhea and became stuporous. He was given fluids by vein and recovered within four days.

A 2 year old boy swallowed 32 tablets that he had removed from his grandmother's purse. The child vomited, became drowsy, and was rushed to the hospital where he was treated heroically for three weeks until completely recovered. The physicians resorted to exchange transfusions to eliminate the excess iron in the child's blood.

These few examples demonstrate that iron can be poisonous even though it is regarded as a health providing chemical. Warning labels are now placed on the containers to caution the user.

Alert New York Congressman Leads Fight Against Satellite Giveaway

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressman Oren Harris of Arkansas, staunch friend of the American Telephone and Telegraph monopoly, used shrewd tactics of push the satellite communications giveaway through the House of Representatives.

Harris chose the Monday right after the Easter vacation to report the bill out of his committee for early floor debate. One Congressman, however, was too alert for him—William F. Ryan, the live-wire Manhattan Democrat. Being a member of the Space Committee, Ryan knew what was happening, and unlike some other New York Congressmen who spend about half the week in Brooklyn and on Broadway—especially Mondays—Ryan got back from his Easter holiday on time.

And in order to prevent any rush consideration of the satellite giveaway, he sent out a "Dear Colleague" letter to a group of Congressmen who are usually interested in fighting the public's battles, inviting them to a meeting. The response was not too favorable.

Those who showed up were Edith Green of Oregon, Clem Miller of California, Bob Kastner of Wisconsin, Charles Joel of New Jersey, all Democrats, together with the administrative assistants of Ken Hechler of West Virginia and Al Ullman of Oregon.

Not all agreed to make a fight. Most, however, felt that when the taxpayers had spent several billions to develop a satellite, it should not be handed over to American Tel and Tel or any other group of corporations.

Down In Dixie

Down in the Deep South you don't find many enthusiasts for John F. Kennedy. In Natchez, they ask hopefully, "Isn't Kennedy going to be a one-term President?" In New Orleans, a Catholic city, the first Catholic President had few friends. . . . In Mississippi, Jim Coleman, who was a fine governor of that state, may have trouble when he runs again because he has been loyal to Kennedy. . . . In Birmingham, Ala., at a Democratic dinner, every Democratic President in history was praised up to and through Franklin R. Roosevelt. But there was no praise for Harry Truman who first raised the integration issue or for Kennedy who carried in further. Both Alabama Senators, plus eight of the 10 Congressmen were present, but none mentioned John F. Kennedy—not even Sen. John Sparkman, whose son-in-law, Captain Tazewell Shepard, is White House Naval Aide, and whose administrative assistant, John Horne, was named by JFK as Small Business Administrator. . . . To get an idea of change in the USA, read Jonathan Daniels' brilliant new history of the lower Mississippi, "The Natchez Trace." It tells the story of the rip-roaring den of iniquity which was the capital of the Spanish governors. Today Natchez is a clean, modern little city, and the famed abidly houses of "Natchez-under-the-hill" are no more.

Happy Politicians

Gov. Pat Brown of California, Democrat, was speaking on the same platform with Bob Gros of Pacific Gas and Electric, Republican.

"You should have been a Democrat," Brown told Gros, complimenting him on his speech.

"I was a Democrat," Gros responded. "What!" exclaimed the governor.

"Yes, I was a Democrat when you were a Republican," shot back Gros, referring to the fact that Brown switched parties. "I was head of the Young Democrats on Stanford University campus in 1932, the year Roosevelt was elected."

"How did you happen to become a Republican?" asked the Governor of California.

"Well," replied Gros, "the Stanford professors taught me to think. And I've been doing it."

Later, Governor Brown sent Gros an autographed photo which read: "From one happy Democrat to a happy Republican."

Dairy Champion

Sen. Bill Proxmire of Wisconsin, great champion of the dairy farmer, says that he isn't against all of the Freeman Farm Bill, only against the feed grain section—though this is the heart of the bill.

Proxmire has been staging a great battle for the dairy farmers, also has shown courage in bucking the Administration on its poor appointment of power commissioners, its unhappy choice of John McCone as head of Central Intelligence, and various other haphazard appointments.

When he gave his proxy to Sen. Jim Eastland of Mississippi, Proxmire says, he did so only to prevent a reconsideration of the feed grain provision of the bill which had already been defeated but might come up again. Some people have wondered why the Senator from Wisconsin, who is dead opposed to most policies of the Senator from Mississippi, gave his proxy to Eastland.

"He was the nearest man to me," Proxmire explains. "And if the White House was trying to call me they couldn't have been trying very hard. I'm not hard to find if anyone really wants me. As a matter of fact, I've spent more time working on the farm bill than any other member except the chairman."

Lobby Against War

By John Crosby

WASHINGTON

Washington is alive with lobbyists of whom the latest, oddest, and conceivably the most dedicated is Dr. Leo Szilard, the famed nuclear physicist, who is lobbying against war. Many people in and out of Congress have been against war, but no one before ever thought of lobbying against it. It would take a Hungarian to think of that approach.

Szilard first broached his Council for Abolishing War in a speech at Harvard University which he later repeated at eight other colleges and universities. The plan is very simple. Peace lovers are invited to subscribe 2 per cent of their incomes to the council which will then act like any other lobby. That is, they try to elect the people who vote right and defeat the people who don't.

"I've got 2,000 letters from people pledging 2 per cent of their incomes already," Dr. Szilard said. "Even if half of them default, that should bring in $200,000 a year. The income group we're aiming at is around $10,000 a year." Szilard would like to enroll 20,000 lovers of peace by the end of the year, 150,000 by the Presidential election year of 1964. If this rather misty dream came true, he'd have a lobby with $20 million a year to elect and defeat candidates, which, he figures, would make it richer and stronger than the oil and gas lobby, the China lobby, the real estate lobby, or any other lobby.

The peace groups are getting more vocal, more active, and above all more courageous. Szilard feels that every last interest has some special pressure apparatus in Washington pushing its program: peace should certainly have one too, and he's absolutely right. It's a little sad, though, that so noble a word has descended to the methods of the China lobby to get ahead.

"Our main drive is to find good people on the local level to run for Congress. A campaign for the Senate in a small state costs $100,000. In a big state it's $250,000. Only if we can persuade good people to run for Congress can we change the complexion of Congress."

I asked Dr. Szilard if there were any "good people" in Congress or running for election in the fall that his group would support. "Oh, yes," he said immediately. "George McGovern is a very good man running for the Senate in South Dakota. Sen. Javits of New York, Wayne Morse of Oregon, Fulbright of Arkansas, Kuchel of California, Carroll of Colorado, Lister Hill of Alabama—they're all good men. We'd support all of them."

However, Szilard emphasized that his group would not insist their candidates take an unalterable stand on anything. "Our candidates must want peace and must have courage. We don't want them campaigning for peace if they don't want to," he said. "Disarmament is impeded not because so many Americans are opposed to it, but because so few Americans are wholeheartedly for it." That's where the council comes in—to really support, to act as a focal point for enthusiasm and money.

I read some of the 2,000 letters Szilard has received. "How shall I tell you what your lucid, straightforward paper 'Are We on the Road to War' has meant to us here in western Massachusetts," writes a woman. "For the first time in many months people have taken hope that perhaps we need not wait for doomsday." Writes another: "I would like to participate in the experiment, both because of and in spite of the worm of despair in my heart."

"The letters are coming from unexpected places like Oregon," said Dr. Szilard. "The second wave of letters is much less emotional but much firmer than the first."

No one has been asked to send any checks yet. Some $5,000 in checks has come in anyway, which Szilard has not used or even cashed.

In his speech Szilard said: "The movement must not wield the power that it may possess crudely. People in Washington want to be convinced; they do not want to be bribed or blackmailed. There are many intelligent men in Congress; the movement could help these men to have the courage of their convictions."

Russia Will Boost Trade Competition

One way of predicting what Soviet Russia will be up to is to keep a watchful eye on personnel changes within the ruling hierarchy. The turnover in the Communist Party Presidium and in the Premier's cabinet is frequently rapid, but basically the same faces keep cropping up.

The changes often reflect upheavals within the Communist Party structure. Thus, when Andrei P. Kirilenko, party boss from Sverdlovsk, regains a full seat on the Presidium despite having been dropped from that body only last October, it is taken to mean that Khrushchev, Kirilenko's patron, has won a minor dispute.

Another development at the recently-concluded session of the Supreme Soviet deserves attention—appointment of a high government agency to coordinate the Soviet Union's expanding program of foreign trade and economic aid. This is a clear warning to the West that the Kremlin intends to compete, as effectively as it can, in this field.

But it may encounter difficulties. Russian agriculture continues to lag badly, and is not producing enough to meet the needs of the population. Khrushchev lays the blame at Stalin's doorstep, yet his own measures have not proved themselves. Moreover, Russia lacks capital, an essential ingredient in foreign trade and aid. Among the Supreme Soviet's actions was the cancellation of a proposed world's fair to be held in Moscow in 1967.

It would be surprising, however, if agricultural shortages and lack of capital forestalled Russian trade efforts. Russian Communists now regard this as essential to their effort to spread the Communist revolution around the world. The sacrifice will be on the home front, not elsewhere.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Plain Civics

My friend and colleague, Westbrook Pegler, wrote a sentence which gives me an opportunity to return to a favorite subject, namely, the increasing lack of precision in describing our form of government. We have three coequal branches in our government: the Legislative, Executive and Judicial. They are equal in authority, but there is a system of checks and balances in the Constitution which ties them together while simultaneously keeping them apart.

The Executive consists of an elected Administration which includes the President, the Cabinet, the independent agencies and more recently, such war agencies as the National Security Council, the Atomic Energy Commission, etc.

The President is absolute in his authority over the Cabinet. Our Constitution makes no provision for independent Cabinet officers. They are all secretaries to the President, assistants to him, the effective servants of his policy. Pegler says:

"The Department of Justice was so partial to any administration whose creature it happened to be that the idea of enforcement of laws against the party's own henchmen was ridiculous in a bitter way."

If an Attorney General disagrees with the policies of his President, he is always free to resign and to make a public statement as to the reason for his resignation. In Great Britain, of course, it is different. Each Cabinet Officer is elected to Parliament and therefore holds office in his own right. He does not resign from Parliament if he leaves the Cabinet. He may defend his course by a speech in Parliament, as a result of which the Government might fall and a new election would have to be held.

Our form of government has a long history, preceding the Constitution (1789). Since the Constitution was adopted, there have been 23 Amendments to it; the first ten, generally referred to as the Bill of Rights, are really an integral part of the original document and some of them appeared earlier in some colonial charters and in the Constitutions of newly-formed states. Without them, the Constitution could not have been adopted.

The Prohibition Amendment was cancelled out by the Anti-Prohibition Amendment.

Of the 23 Amendments, therefore, 12 have not really been amendments. The remaining 11 in no substantial manner altered our form of government, which is today, perhaps the most unchanged form of government on Earth. And in it, the Department of Justice is an office which is part of the Administration and is therefore under the final direction of the President who alone is responsible to the citizens for it at an election.

A citizen who finds himself enmeshed in a quarrel with the Department of Justice has three possible recourses:

1. He may go into the Courts and bring a complaint either as to law or equity. The Federal Courts, on the whole, have a long history of jealous independence of the Administration and the Attorney General does not necessarily win his case.

2. He might appeal to a Congressional Committee for an investigation. This is a political act, because Congress is a political body.

3. The citizen might appeal to the President, to his Senator or Representative, or to the Press.

It is unfortunate that in this generation, even informed persons speak loosely of our form of government and of the responsibilities of particular officials. Perhaps a reason for this is that as the Executive has grown so enormously and so many personalities emerge into headlines the centers of authority and responsibility are often obscured.

For instance, the foreign policy of this country is the responsibility of the President. He alone makes final decisions. The Secretary of State is the President's assistant in this field. In the Kennedy Administration there are many men of outstanding reputations. Some even possess political power and have followings. Adlai Stevenson, for instance, was twice a candidate for the Presidency; Averell Harriman had been Governor of New York State; "Soapy" Williams of Michigan.

But the final responsibility rests with the President. Any one of these men may agree or disagree with him but the decision is his. When William Jennings Bryan, several times a candidate for President and beloved by many Democrats, disagreed with President Woodrow Wilson, it was Bryan who got out. When James Byrnes disagreed with President Truman, Byrnes got out.

Under our system, on the Executive side there are no "men around the President," no "ruling circles," no "Assistant Presidents." There is only an elected President.

New Withholding Tax Plan Wasteful, Unjust

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — If there's one issue that the American people can understand, it is that nobody—not even the government—is entitled to take away from the citizen money that belongs to him alone and is not due for taxes.

It now is estimated by the Internal Revenue Service that approximately $200 million will be taken from the citizens for different periods of time each year and then returned later to the lawful owners. Many people in retirement will be affected by the proposed law that would require corporations, banks and other institutions to withhold a certain proportion of dividends and interest and pay it directly to the government every month or every three months.

Will the citizen get any interest for the time his money is in the government's hands? Nobody has come forward yet with a practical plan even to compute such interest. This "over-withheld" money certainly will not be earning compound interest for the citizen at the bank during the period he has been deprived of it.

The Administration's argument is that too much dividend and interest money is escaping taxation altogether and, in effect, that "the end justifies the means." This may make things easier for the tax collector, but can it make things easier for the consciences of members of Congress who know they will be authorizing a confiscation of private property? The fact that this confiscation is for short intervals each year doesn't lessen its injustice. One of the ten commandments says something to this effect: "Thou shalt not take what doesn't belong to you." There has never been any amendment to this which exonerates the government itself, including the Congress, for participation in such a wrongful act.

It has been contended that all these problems will be taken care of by the device of exemption certificates which the citizen who owes no tax will file in advance with his bank or savings institution. But this is not all of the problem. It doesn't cover the case of the citizen who must pay a small tax and who finds a larger percentage of dividend or interest income has been automatically withheld than he really owed. Does a "refund," therefore, completely meet the question of morality when the citizen doesn't owe all of the tax that is to be imposed on him? Is it right for the government to collect a single dollar in taxes that doesn't belong to it and which the citizen has not had an opportunity to receive or calculate in his regular income tax return?

Mortimer Caplin, Commissioner

of the Internal Revenue Service, who is a very able man with long experience in the field of tax law, has just made a speech in which he estimates that nearly seven per cent of the total collected by the "withholding" plan on dividends and interest will have to be refunded by the government. He says that maybe as many as 2,000,000 taxpayers have various deductions for medical expenses and old-age allowances which might bring their tax obligation below the amounts withheld by the government. He says:

"For taxable individuals in the lower-income brackets there may be some over-withholding, perhaps $200 million of over-withholding out of an estimated $3 billion of total withholding."

The commissioner suggested that these taxpayers could get this money back annually or, if they prefer, "they can, under certain clear circumstances, get quarterly refunds of over-withheld tax."

While the government expects this procedure to be "rapid and simple," it will take time. Especially, it will necessitate careful examination of the individual income tax returns and applications for refunds. It imposes a hardship. It will mean extra expense to the various institutions which have withheld the money, as well as expense to the citizen when he seeks to get his money back.

An educational campaign carried out by the government through the banks and corporations could recover, with little expense, a great deal of those taxes which, largely through ignorance, are probably being omitted by small taxpayers, some of whom leave their money in the banks to earn compound interest and do not have the means of calculating concurrently what they owe in tax.

The whole controversy seems likely to become an issue in the Congressional elections. Mail to members of Congress is larger on this question than it has been on any issue in many years. Nobody should object to paying what he owes the government for taxes, but plenty of objections are being voiced against paying money the citizen does not owe and against denial of the use of this money while government, with its red tape, is taking maybe months to figure out how much was never owed and must be returned to its rightful owner.

Also, by the time a refund is made, another "withholding" operation has taken away a sum equal to the one just refunded. The citizen will have to apply continuously for refunds and may always have in a "withheld" status $100 or more that he never owed in taxes in the first place.

Inside Washington

PRICE OF FAME — Astronaut John Glenn has his difficulties. And high on the list is what to do about the mountain of mail he's been receiving ever since he electrified the nation and the free world by successfully orbiting the earth three times.

Glenn is receiving several big sacks of mail daily. Much of it is laudatory — from Americans and from foreigners who want to express their high regard for him. Some of it contains the usual crank requests for him to lend his name or his money to some "worthy cause." And, of course, some of it contains invitations for him to appear at banquets, fairs and in support of various activities.

Among all this deluge of letters are such things as his paycheck, bills and the normal flow of needed material that any person receives in his mail. Glenn's problem is to winnow out these personal missives from the thousands he receives.

It's on easy task, and while he hasn't said so publicly, he's beginning to wish that some of his hero worshippers would do so inwardly, rather than through the postal service.

BEEF AGAINST ADS — Sen. Maurine Neuberger, Oregon Democrat, is playing to the hilt her role as defender and protector of the American housewife. She's been playing an active part in Senate investigations into false labeling and false claims on a myriad of consumer goods.

Recently she wrote to her Oregon constituents: "Are you aware of the dangling comparative question?"

"Scrub washes 10 times whiter." "Mealy-meal tastes better." "To-bacco smokes cooler."

Then, she asked, "What has happened to the old-fashioned 'than'?"

"Whiter than what? Better than what? Cooler than what?"

Some of her office staff are wondering whether her broadside is going to affect advertising programs in her home state.

Keep Iron Tablets Away From Youngsters

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Iron poisoning occurs rather frequently in young children when they swallow too many pills or capsules containing this mineral. A handful of tablets will make them violently ill and fatalities have been reported. Iron irritates the gastrointestinal tract and the ensuing damage brings on vomiting and diarrhea; some develop shock, pallor, and coma.

Parents are able to tolerate larger amounts of iron but individual variations occur. Some men and women get diarrhea after consuming one or two tablets a day. If they need iron for anemia, they must try different products to find the least irritating type. A few anemic persons are forced to take the longer cure by concentrating on foods rich in iron.

Many parents do not regard iron pills as poisonous and foolishly place a bottle on the kitchen shelf or in a medicine cabinet or bedroom drawer. Carelessness along this line is demonstrated by several recorded instances of accidental poisoning in the records of the poison control center of the New York City department of health.

In one instance, the father had been painting the medicine cabinet in the bathroom and put the medications, including a box of iron pills, in the bedroom. His 22 month old boy swallowed four pills, thinking they were candy.

The tyke became nauseated, vomited, and was taken to the hospital where his stomach was washed out. Shortly thereafter he developed diarrhea and became stuporous. He was given fluids by vein and recovered within four days.

A 2 year old boy swallowed 32 tablets that he had removed from his grandmother's purse. The child vomited, became drowsy, and was rushed to the hospital where he was treated heroically for three weeks until completely recovered. The physicians resorted to exchange transfusions to eliminate the excess iron in the child's blood.

These few examples demonstrate that iron can be poisonous even though it is regarded as a health providing chemical. Warning labels are now placed on the containers to caution the user.

Alert New York Congressman Leads Fight Against Satellite Giveaway

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressman Oren Harris of Arkansas, staunch friend of the American Telephone and Telegraph monopoly, used shrewd tactics of push the satellite communications giveaway through the House of Representatives.

Harris chose the Monday right after the Easter vacation to report the bill out of his committee for early floor debate. One Congressman, however, was too alert for him—William F. Ryan, the live-wire Manhattan Democrat. Being a member of the Space Committee, Ryan knew what was happening, and unlike some other New York Congressmen who spend about half the week in Brooklyn and on Broadway—especially Mondays—Ryan got back from his Easter holiday on time.

And in order to prevent any rush consideration of the satellite giveaway, he sent out a "Dear Colleague" letter to a group of Congressmen who are usually interested in fighting the public's battles, inviting them to a meeting. The response was not too favorable.

Those who showed up were Edith Green of Oregon, Clem Miller of California, Bob Kastenmeier of Wisconsin, Charles Joelson of New Jersey, all Democrats, together with the administrative assistants of Ken Hechler of West Virginia and Al Ullman of Oregon.

Not all agreed to make a fight. Most, however, felt that when the taxpayers had spent several billions to develop a satellite, it should not be handed over to American Tel and Tel or any other group of corporations.

Down In Dixie

Down in the Deep South you don't find many enthusiasts for John F. Kennedy. In Natchez, they ask hopefully, "Isn't Kennedy going to be a one-term President?" In New Orleans, a Catholic city, the first Catholic President has few friends. . . . In Mississippi, Jim Coleman, who was a fine governor of that state, may have trouble when he runs again because he has been loyal to Kennedy. . . . In Birmingham, Ala., at a Democratic dinner, every Democratic President in history was praised up to and through Franklin R. Roosevelt. But there was no praise for Harry Truman who first raised the integration issue or for Kennedy who carried it further. Both Alabama Senators, plus eight of the 10 Congressmen were present, but none mentioned John F. Kennedy—not even Sen. John Sparkman, whose son-in-law, Captain Tazewell Shepard, is White House Naval Aide, and whose administrative assistant, John Horne, was named by JFK as Small Business Administrator. . . . To get an idea of change in the USA, read Jonathan Daniels' brilliant new history of the lower Mississippi, "The Natchez Trace." It tells the story of the rip-roaring den of iniquity which was the capital of the Spanish governors. Today Natchez is a clean, modern little city, and the famed abody houses of "Natchez-under-the-hill" are no more.

Happy Politicians
Gov. Pat Brown of California, Democrat, was speaking on the same platform with Bob Gros of Pacific Gas and Electric, Republican.

"You should have been a Democrat," Brown told Gros, complimenting him on his speech.

"I was a Democrat," Gros replied. "What!" exclaimed the governor.

"Yes, I was a Democrat when you were a Republican," shot back Gros, referring to the fact that Brown switched parties. "I was head of the Young Democrats on Stanford University campus in 1932, the year Roosevelt was elected."

"How did you happen to become a Republican?" asked the Governor of California.

"Well," replied Gros, "the Stanford professors taught me to think. And I've been doing it."

Later, Governor Brown sent Gros an autographed photo which read: "From one happy Democrat to a happy Republican."

Dairy Champion

Sen. Bill Proxmire of Wisconsin, great champion of the dairy farmer, says that he isn't against all of the Freeman Farm Bill, only against the feed grain section—though this is the heart of the bill.

Proxmire has been staging a great battle for the dairy farmers, also has shown courage in bucking the Administration on its poor appointment of power commissioners, its unhappy choice of John McConne as head of Central Intelligence, and various other haphazard appointees.

When he gave his proxy to Sen. Jim Eastland of Mississippi, Proxmire says, he did so only to prevent a reconsideration of the feed grain provision of the bill which had already been defeated but might come up again. Some people have wondered why the Senator from Wisconsin, who is dead opposed to most policies of the Senator from Mississippi, gave his proxy to Eastland.

"He was the nearest man to me," Proxmire explains. "And if the White House was trying to call me they couldn't have been trying very hard. I'm not hard to find if anyone really wants me. As a matter of fact, I've spent more time working on the farm bill than any other member except the chairman."

Lobby Against War

By John Crosby

WASHINGTON

Washington is alive with lobbyists of whom the latest, oddest, and conceivably the most dedicated is Dr. Leo Szilard, the famed nuclear physicist, who is lobbying against war. Many people in and out of Congress have been against war, but no one before ever thought of lobbying against it. It would take a Hungarian to think of that approach.

Szilard first broached his Council for Abolishing War in a speech at Harvard University which he later repeated at eight other colleges and universities. The plan is very simple. Peace lovers are invited to subscribe 2 per cent of their incomes to the council which will then act like any other lobby. That is, they try to elect the people who vote right and defeat the people who don't.

"I've got 2,000 letters from people pledging 2 per cent of their incomes already," Dr. Szilard said. "Even if half of them default, that should bring in $200,000 a year. The income group we're aiming at is around $10,000 a year." Szilard would like to enroll 20,000 lovers of peace by the end of the year. 150,000 by the Presidential election year of 1964. If this rather misty dream came true, he'd have a lobby with $20 million a year to elect and defeat candidates, which, he figures, would make it richer and stronger than the oil and gas lobby, the China lobby, the real estate lobby, or any other lobby.

The peace groups are getting more vocal, more active, and above all more courageous. Szilard feels that every last interest has some special pressure apparatus in Washington pushing its program; peace should certainly have one too, and he's absolutely right. It's a little sad, though, that so noble a word has to descend to the methods of the China lobby to get ahead.

"Our main drive is to find good people on the local level to run for Congress. A campaign for the Senate in a small state costs $100,000. In a big state it's $250,000. Only if we can persuade good people to run for Congress can we change the complexion of Congress."

I asked Dr. Szilard if there

However, Szilard emphasized that his group would not insist their candidates take an unalterable stand on anything. "Our candidates must want peace and must have courage. We don't want them campaigning for peace if they don't want to," he said. "Disarmament is impeded not because so many Americans are opposed to it, but because so few Americans are wholeheartedly for it." That's where the council comes in—to really support, to act as a focal point for enthusiasm and money.

I read some of the 2,000 letters Szilard has received. "How shall I tell you what your lucid, straightforward paper 'Are We on the Road to War' has meant to us here in western Massachusetts," writes a woman. "For the first time in many months people have taken hope that perhaps we need not wait for doomday." Much Area Interest Seen In Allegheny Parkway Idea

Senate Hearing Set On May 9

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., announced Thursday that a hearing on the proposed Allegheny Parkway, a scenic highway that would traverse 360 miles in 15 West Virginia counties, had been moved up one day to May 9.

Byrd said many West Virginians had expressed an interest in appearing at the hearing, to be held by the Senate subcommittee on interior and related agencies. The hearing originally was scheduled May 10.

The proposed 550-mile highway would cut through the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia, the Monongahela National Forest and also through some of the southern border counties of the Mountain State. It would begin at Hagerstown, Md., and terminate near the Cumberland Gap on the Kentucky-Virginia-Tennessee border.

Byrd and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., have introduced legislation calling for construction of the highway at a cost of about $500 million.

The parkway would intersect the West Virginia counties of Jefferson, Berkeley, Morgan, Hampshire, Mineral, Grant, Randolph, Hardy, Pocahontas, Greenbrier, Monroe, Summers, Mercer, McDowell, Mingo and Fayette.

W. Va. Health Dept. To Check Area Fallout

Nuclear Tests Trigger Action

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer says that with the resumption of nuclear testing, his department will begin regular reporting of radioactivity in air, water and foodstuffs, including milk.

Dyer said checks on milk are important because it is a major dietary element and also provides an invaluable index to the total dietary intake of radioactive materials by all segments of the population.

The health director said studies indicate that about 50 per cent of radioactive strontium 90 intake comes from milk and dairy products, and the ratio may be as high as 85 per cent among infants.

"However, radioactive levels in milk and other food items have remained far below any danger levels," Dyer said, "and it has never been suggested that the public stop drinking milk or even decrease its consumption of this important food."

Dyer also said health officials have noticed an incidence of a new type phobia among some persons. It is called nucleomithobia, or fear of the atom.

Dyer said local health officials have reported that some persons have exhibited full-fledged neurotic reactions to any and all information about radioactive fallout from nuclear blasts.

W. Va. Adjutant General Is Opposing Any Cutbacks In National Guard Units

By DONALD F. FANNIN
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Adj. Gen. Gene Hal Williams said Thursday he will continue to oppose any cutback in West Virginia's National Guard units and expects the matter soon will be taken to the state's congressional delegation for support.

Williams, who attended a recent meeting of the U. S. Adjutant General's Association, said he would brief Gov. W. W. Barron on results of the session and they would inform West Virginia's congressional delegation.

The association approved a resolution unanimously opposing any cutback in guard strength and notified President Kennedy of its opposition. The resolution also states that there should be an increase in National Guard strength from 400,000 to 412,000.

The resolution said the association did not oppose elimination of any guard units no longer required for the regular army. But it said any such units eliminated should be replaced with units for which a regular army requirement does exist.

Williams said he did not know of any Regular Army elimination of engineering battalions like the West Virginia Army National Guard's 102nd Battalion. The Battalion with units at Parkersburg, Weston and Salem, is among those in the proposed guard cutback by the U. S. Department of Defense.

Governor Barron also has voiced his objection to any cutback of state guard units. By law, such units in a state cannot be cutback without the Governor's consent. However, Williams noted that the Defense Department could merely cut off any money to units in question and tell the states they would have to provide funds for them.

Williams said he planned to attend Congressional hearings into the proposed cutbacks expected to open in Washington in the next few weeks. The Adjutant General's Association urged all of its members to attend the hearings when possible.

Williams said Congress cannot dictate to the Defense Department what its troop basis should be and what type units should make up the Army.

However, he said Congress apparently could appropriate sufficient money to support a 412,000-man Army National Guard and the Department of Defense would have to take it upon itself to set up the Guard to utilize that strength.

"It is the hope of the association," he said, "that congress will find the proposed strength is justified and will act accordingly."

"The Adjutant General's association is not fighting cutbacks merely because the Guard would lose strength," he said. "But because of its conviction that a 412,000-man Army National Guard plus a 300,000-man Army reserve is the absolute minimum requirement for effective backing up of the regular Army."

"The association also feels those strengths are necessary to insure each state of minimum strength to effectively carry out a recovery mission in the event of nuclear attack on this country," he said.

"There is no assurance that our current strength would be sufficient in such a situation and the association believes any cutback would seriously damage the recovery capability."

Williams added that any reduction of conventional forces would place increased reliance on nuclear weapons and would further hamper military flexibility in handling varied levels of aggression.

Much Area Interest Seen In Allegheny Parkway Idea

Senate Hearing Set On May 9

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., announced Thursday that a hearing on the proposed Allegheny Parkway, a scenic highway that would traverse 360 miles in 15 West Virginia counties, had been moved up one day to May 9.

Byrd said many West Virginians had expressed an interest in appearing at the hearing, to be held by the Senate subcommittee on interior and related agencies. The hearing originally was scheduled May 10.

The proposed 550-mile highway would cut through the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia, the Monongahela National Forest and also through some of the southern border counties of the Mountain State. It would begin at Hagerstown, Md., and terminate near the Cumberland Gap on the Kentucky-Virginia-Tennessee border.

Byrd and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., have introduced legislation calling for construction of the highway at a cost of about $500 million.

The parkway would intersect the West Virginia counties of Jefferson, Berkeley, Morgan, Hampshire, Mineral, Grant, Randolph, Hardy, Pocahontas, Greenbrier, Monroe, Summers, Mercer, McDowell, Mingo and Fayette.

The resolution said the association did not oppose elimination of any guard units no longer required for the regular army. But it said any such units eliminated should be replaced with units for which a regular army requirement does exist.

Williams said he did not know of any Regular Army elimination of engineering battalions like the West Virginia Army National Guard's 1022nd Battalion. The Battalion with units at Parkersburg, Weston and Salem, is among those in the proposed guard cutback by the U. S. Department of Defense.

Governor Barron also has voiced his objection to any cutback of state guard units. By law, such units in a state cannot be cutback without the Governor's consent. However, Williams noted that the Defense Department could merely cut off any money to units in question and tell the states they would have to provide funds for them.

Williams said he planned to attend Congressional hearings in the proposed cutback expected to open in Washington in the next few weeks. The Adjutant General's Association urged all of its members to attend the hearings when possible.

Williams said Congress cannot dictate to the Defense Department what its troop basis should be and what type units should be up the Army.

However, he said Congress apparently could appropriate sufficient money to support a 412,000-man Army National Guard and the Department of Defense would have to take it upon itself to set up the Guard to utilize that strength.

"It is the hope of the association," he said, "that congress will find the proposed strength is justified and will act accordingly."

"The Adjutant General's association is not fighting cutbacks merely because the Guard would lose strength," he said. "But because of its conviction that a 412,000-man Army National Guard plus a 300,000-man Army reserve is the absolute minimum requirement for effective backing up of the regular Army."

"The association also feels those strengths are necessary to insure each state of minimum strength to effectively carry out a recovery mission in the event of nuclear attack on this country," he said.

"There is no assurance that our current strength would be sufficient in such a situation and the association believes any cutback would seriously damage the recovery capability."

Williams added that any reduction of conventional forces would place increased reliance on nuclear weapons and would further hamper military flexibility in handling varied levels of aggression.

Palmer, Ford, Middlecoff In Three-Way Tie

Pace Tourney Of Champs With 139s

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer, Doug Ford and Dr. Cary Middlecoff, cracking par through the high winds for the second straight day, tied for the halfway lead in the $58,000 Tournament of Champions Friday with 36-hole scores of 139.

Fighting blistering heat that sent the temperature soaring to 96 along with the hot, 15-mile an hour gusts, the trio took a one-stroke lead over a closely-bunched field.

It was the second straight day of deadlocks.

Two Drop Back

Four men were tied for the lead Thursday, with Mike Souchak and Doug Sanders dropping back. Four fired a 69 to join the first-day co-leaders, Middlecoff and Palmer, who had 70s.

It was a day of incidents for the crowd of 7,500 that braved the torrid weather.

—Souchak, battling for the lead, hit a tee shot off line on the second hole. It obviously was a couple of feet out of bounds and a deputy sheriff picked it up. Mike never did get to see where his ball landed. He steamed away with the two-stroke penalty and wound up with a 79.

—Ford had an eagle for the second day in a row. Not noted as a long hitter, he clouted a tee shot 250 yards on the fifth with the aid of the wind, then rammed a spoon to within one foot of the pine on the par-five, 554-yard hole. Thursday he eagled the 15th.

—Best round of the day was 67 by big Bill Casper. He was out in 32, back in 35 and tanked some dandy putts, including a 45-footer on the third hole.

Both Shoot 68s

—Bruce Crampton of Australia and Earl Stewart of Texas, both listed as 40-1 shots in the pre-tournament betting, each had 68s to stay in close contention.

One stroke off the pace, each with a 140 were Casper, Crampton, Stewart and Jack Fleck, the latter getting there with a 69.

And at 141 came Doug Sanders and Joe Campbell. Sanders was in contention for the leadership and needed only pars on the last two holes to stay in the deadlock, but bogied both to take a 72.

Defending champion Sam Snead blew himself far off the pace when he hit two shots in the rough, then into a trap and took a seven on the par four ninth hole for a front-nine of 40 and a round of 75 for a 145 score.

National Open champion Gene Littler had 71 for 143.

Jim Collins Posts 278 Game, 632 Set In K. of C. Rolloff

Capt. Jack Rorick's Sparrows won the championship of the Third Degree, Knights of Columbus Bowling League by defeating the Robins by 56 pins in a roll-off Thursday night at S.S. Peter & Paul alleys but Jim Collins of the losers "stole the show" by posting the highest game and set recorded in the league this season.

Collins registered a 278 game and added a 164 and 190 for high set of 632.

"Bud" Griffith headed the Sparrows with a 229 game and 505 set.

Skinner's Single In 9th Wins Game

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pinch-hitter Bob Skinner smacked a bases-loaded single in the ninth inning Friday night to enable the Pittsburgh Pirates to snap a four game losing streak with a 5-4 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The stage was set for the climactic blow when Dick Groat drew a leadoff walk from pitcher Joe Moeller, who had just entered the game. Roberto Clemente got his third hit, a single to right and Dick Stuart was walked intentionally to load the bases with no outs.

Ron Perranoski replaced Moeller as the fifth Dodger pitcher.

Then Skinner, hitting safely in his 15th straight game, singled to center to bring home Groat.

The Dodgers tied the count at 4 all in the ninth when pinch-hitter Lee Walls fled to right and Doug Camilli, who had tripped, came home.

Ridan 2-1 Favorite To Capture 88th Running Of Kentucky Derby

Bone Injury Eliminates Sir Gaylord

Cicada, Donut King Also Withdrawn; 15 To Go To Post Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Fate's lightning struck quickly three times at Churchill Downs Friday and eliminated a trio of top horses from the 88th Kentucky Derby. But the biggest bolt was the astonishing injury which eliminated the favored Sir Gaylord and left big and tough Ridan the 2-1 favorite.

His owners said Sir Gaylord would be retired to stud.

A hairline fracture of the sesamoid bone of the right front leg, sustained during an early morning workout, knocked Sir Gaylord out of the $125,000-added roses run Saturday and shattered the hopes of Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia. His champion filly, Cicada, also was withdrawn, as was the California colt Donut King, leaving 15 to battle over the 1 mile, starting at 4:30 p.m. EST.

Didn't Know Of Injury

Chenery was en route to Louisville by rail and didn't know of his misfortune for hours, as the train was 2½ hours late. His trainer, Casey Hayes, already had taken Sir Gaylord out of the classic race for 3-year-olds after X-rays definitely disclosed the injury to his star's leg.

But he couldn't clarify Cicada's status until Chenery's arrival, although time was running short in the greatest pre-Derby drama in more than 30 years. Chenery and Hayes hurried to Sir Gaylord's barn at Churchill Downs, arriving in early afternoon.

Cicada had been entered in the $35,000-added Kentucky Oaks for 3-year-old fillies Friday afternoon. Hayes also had put her in the Derby as insurance against such a mishap that befell Sir Gaylord. Ridan, owned by Mrs. Moody Jolley, had barely beaten Cicada by a nose in the $100,000 Florida Derby on March 31.

"My first inclination was to run her in the Derby," said the crusty Chenery at a hastily summoned barnside press conference.

Decision Is No

"But now, my decision is 'No,' after conferring on the situation, Cicada had been prepared for the Oaks this afternoon. Her feeding was adjusted to this and it would have been upsetting now to change this."

"Furthermore, she is in post position 15 and would be running against colts, which is asking too much. She is a great filly and I want to give her every chance."

Donut King, a California-bred colt, owned by Verne W. Winchell Jr. of Los Angeles, also was withdrawn. But this didn't come as such a shock. Donut King has been ailing with an infection in the left hind foot. The abscess was opened Friday and drained and the colt will try to make the Preakness May 19 in Baltimore.

With Ridan the new favorite after Sir Gaylord ruled as the early 8-5 favorite, Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County moved into the second spot at 7-2.

Sir Ribot, a British-bred colt owned by Fred Turner Jr. of Midland, Tex., and who has raced in California, is the third choice at 6-1.

Kline Is Victim A Detroit Bows

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Rookie third baseman Rich Rollins slammed a two-run home run with two out in the last of the ninth to give the Minnesota Twins a 4-2 victory over Detroit Friday.

Rollins hit relief pitcher Ronnie Kline's fast ball and drove it 380 feet into the bleachers in left-center field to score Lennie Green ahead of him. Green had reached base on a fielder's choice.

The triumph was the Twins' fifth in their last six games and 10th in 14 contests.

Tiger right-hander Phil Regan was coasting along with a four-hitter when the Twins erupted for two runs in the seventh after shortstop Dick McAuliffe had first.

Bernie Allen's double to right, pinch hitter Vic Power's looping single and Green's double to left center scored two runs and changed Regan. Kline came on to retire the side.

Mobile Homes On Farms Get Amended Rules

Only One Paragraph Will Be Changed

An amended version of an addition to Allegany County's interim zoning ordinance pertaining to mobile homes on farms was approved by the Board of County Commissioners yesterday.

Paragraph (e) of Section 9 was amended yesterday on motion of Commissioner John J. Rowan, and seconded by Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon. The amended version as recommended by Earl E. Manges as attorney for the County Farm Bureau at a public hearing Thursday night.

The amended version reads as follows:

(e) Provided, however, that on a farm any private mobile home or trailer house without qualifications or conditions except for the requirements of the Health Department, shall be permitted on condition that such mobile home or trailer house shall be located at least 100 feet from any permanent dwelling on adjacent property and shall comply with the setback requirements in Section 10.

Two Changes

This version had two changes from the paragraph as recommended by the County Planning and Zoning Commission to the county commissioners on April 10. The first change eliminated the requirement that the mobile home had to be incidental to the farm operation by striking out these words:

"Which is incidental and accessory to the operation of such farm or is occupied by members of the farm family or by any family engaged primarily in work in such farm." Mr. Manges pointed out that this deletion is necessary to allow retired farmers to live in mobile homes on their farms.

The second change from the paragraph as recommended by the Planning and Zoning Commission was a reduction from 400 to 100 feet the distance which a farm mobile home must be located from any permanent dwelling on adjacent property.

Mr. Manges also submitted a written recommendation to the county commissioners that Paragraph (c) of Section 9, which pertains to mobile homes in all residence districts, be amended by reducing the floor area requirements for such mobile homes from 500 square feet to 280 square feet.

Paragraph (e) already has eliminated all floor area requirements for mobile homes on farms.

Floor Area

Commissioners Rowan and Shinnamon indicated at Thursday night's hearing that they would approve the amendment to Paragraph (c) reducing the floor area requirements from 500 to 300 square feet.

Leslie J. Clark, county attorney, said they were persuaded yesterday that there was no need to amend paragraph (c) because it pertains to mobile homes in residence districts, not on farms.

The Farm Bureau attorney did not request any changes in two other paragraphs which had been recommended to the county commissioners by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Paragraph (f) of Section 9 of the interim zoning ordinance would permit mobile homes, trailer houses, tents or camps for seasonal use in connection with recreational, hunting or fishing use provided they are located 400 feet from any permanent dwelling on adjacent property and comply with the setback requirements.

Another paragraph was added to Section 11 of the ordinance permitting mobile homes and other temporary buildings incidental to construction work for a limit of two years.

No changes were recommended in these two paragraphs by the Farm Bureau.

Mr. Clark will prepare a revised version of the ordinance including the approved amendments.

Commissioner John T. Mason said he was in favor of approving the three paragraphs as recommended by the County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Man Arrested In Car Theft

A 20-year-old local man was arrested by city police in connection with the theft of a car belonging to a Cash Valley Road resident.

Ronald Keith Hare of 2 Elizabeth Street is being held in Allegany County Jail pending action which may be taken by federal authorities, said City Police Detective Captain James E. Van.

The car owned by Victor Wonn was stolen from a local parking lot.

When questioned by Van, young Hare said he noticed the car on the lot and the keys were in the switch.

He said he drove it on Cumberland streets and headed across the bridge into Ridgeley and motored to Short Gap and returned to Wiley Ford where he abandoned it after the clutch burned out.

Hare told Van he walked back to Maryland. The young man was arrested by city police at 12:30 a.m. yesterday.

Heads May Festivities

Joyce Andrea Corl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Corl of 10 Park Drive, LaVale, a sophomore at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., is chairman of May Day weekend festivities, today through Sunday. Miss Corl is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta.

This is the fourth in a series of articles on some of the most important offices that will be at stake in this year's elections.

The office of State's Attorney for Allegany County will be uncontested in both the May primary and the general election in November.

James S. Getty of Lonaconing will be unopposed in his quest for re-election. A registered Republican, Getty has been associated with the State's Attorney's office 11 years and was also unopposed for the office four years ago.

His name will not appear on the ballot this month, however it will appear on the ballot for the general election in November and one vote must be cast in his favor to legalize the election.

Although the Maryland Constitution simply states the duties of a state's attorney is "to prosecute and defend, on the part of the state, all criminal and civil cases in which the state may be interested," the office is very time consuming and involves a tremendous amount of work in supplying general legal information to residents of the county who are financially unable to secure counsel.

8 Various Courts

The prosecution of cases involves both Trial Magistrate Court and Juvenile Court as well as hearings in Circuit Court which requires considerable time. The state's attorney must also handle grand jury work and the preparation of presentments and indictments.

Day after day and week after week the office is jam-packed with people faced with problems ranging from simple family disputes to major criminal offenses, plus the numerous telephone requests daily for all types of information.

As an example, each year hundreds of Welfare cases are referred to the State's Attorney when aged parents become destitute and their adult children refuse to assist them. The state's attorney will summons in all parties concerned, work out some type of financial arrangements, draft the necessary legal papers and report the decision.

Prosecutes Crimes

The state's attorney, who is not a law enforcement official but a prosecutor of crimes, has the authority under law to determine what charges, if any, will be made in criminal cases and the degree of the offense, based solely on police information presented to him. He also provides advice and counsel to law officers and magistrates when it is requested by the various agencies.

The state's attorney is elected for a four-year term which begins the first day of January following the general election. His filing fee is $25 and is permitted under law to practice as an attorney in civil cases.

To qualify as a candidate a person must have the right to practice law in the State of Maryland and have been a resident of the county at least two years. There is no age qualification attached to the office.

The state's attorney office in Allegany County consists of the State's Attorney, his deputy, a secretary and a criminal investigator, all appointed at the discretion of the state's attorney.

The current salary of the state's attorney is $4,800, however effective with the next term of office the salary will be increased to $7,500 by act of the past General Assembly. The salary is provided from county funds as is the expenses of the office in general.

State Jaycees Will Elect Leaders Today

Candidates for offices in the Maryland Junior Chamber of Commerce were given the opportunity to indulge in campaign oratory last night as about 400 early-arriving delegates gathered at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Before all registrants are received today it is expected that some 600 persons, including Jaycees and their wives, from most of the 54 chapters in Maryland, will be here.

All sessions of the convention, which will come to an end Sunday morning, are being held in the enlarged facilities of the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Officers will be elected during this afternoon's session. Candidates for state Jaycee president are Richard McJilton, Dundalk, and Walter Lockman, Laurel. Seeking election as first vice president are Jack Gillette, Baltimore, and Charles Bolling, Prince George's.

Ralph Sell Jr. of Cumberland is one of five in the running for national director. Others in this race are William Brannon, Catonsville; Patrick Carr, Takoma-Langley; Cy Rooney, Prince George's; James Morrison, Pocomoke City.

Featured guests at today's luncheon will be Morgan J. Doughton, Allentown, Pa., a past national president; Jerry Doran, Washington, and William Flynn of Connecticut, current national vice presidents.

Warren Stroth of Towson, who is in charge of convention sessions as state president, is a candidate for national vice president now.

There will be a cocktail hour from 6:30 until 7:30 p.m. today, followed by the convention banquet. Dancing will follow with music by the Gentlemen of Note and Tommy Smith's orchestra.

Fatal Accident Trial Is Reset

A manslaughter by automobile case scheduled yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court will be held instead in Allegany County Circuit Court after the state decided to pray for a jury trial.

Richard Daniel Abe, 25, of 252 Elder Street, defendant, last week posted bond of $500 and waived a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

The charge is a result of a two-car crash last May 18 in which Mrs. Myrtle Pfaff, 47, wife of James C. Pfaff, 53, of McCulloh Street, Frostburg, lost her life.

State's Attorney James S. Getty prayed a jury trial prior to the hearing scheduled yesterday before Magistrate Barnett.

The trial has been pending almost a year due to the extent of injuries sustained by the defendant in the accident about 11 p.m. on U.S. Route 40 in front of Eckhart School.

Authorities indicated yesterday the trial will be held on Wednesday in Circuit Court. Harold Naughton is counsel for Abe.

Young Demos Urged To Vote For Gov. Tawes

Gallagher Defends Savings-Loan Veto

By The Associated Press

Francis X. Gallagher, 34-year-old People's Counsel for the Public Service Commission and former state delegate, urged other young Maryland Democrats Friday to vote for Gov. Tawes in the May 15 primary.

"I admire Gov. J. Millard Tawes as a person and as a leader," Gallagher said in a Baltimore television appearance. "I admire him for his temperate manner, his ability, his singleness of purpose and his abiding concern for Maryland."

"I earnestly recommend his re-nomination and re-election."

Gallagher said he was addressing himself "particularly to the young men and women of Maryland whose concern revolves around issues rather than personalities and who are interested in a calm, rational and temperate discussion of the challenges which face our state government."

Cites Court Bill

Gallagher said that as a delegate from Baltimore's 3rd District in 1956-61, he could testify to the support which Gov. Tawes gave to passage of a municipal court bill, better motor vehicle laws and creation of a metropolitan transit authority.

Gallagher also defended the 1960 veto by Gov. Tawes of a bill to regulate savings and loan associations.

"Although some have attempted to make political capital out of the governor's veto," Gallagher said, "I think it should be made clear that the bill was only stop gap legislation, that it was severely amended, and that its enactment into law might have provided an excuse for opponents of regulatory control to effectively block the passage of the Case bill."

A commission headed by Richard Case drafted another bill which Gov. Tawes supported all the way and signed in 1961.

A Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate nomination, Elbert M. Byrd Jr., raised a question about Tawes' leadership in the legislature, however.

Byrd, citing the cloud of uncertainty over the unit vote system in the primary, recalled a letter he had written Gov. Tawes last Feb. 7 shortly after the legislature convened.

Byrd urged Tawes "to take strong action in this legislative session to bring about abolition of the unit vote system in Maryland."

Gets Endorsements

Byrd said the governor did not reply until March 7 when he said after discussing the question with his legislative leaders "as we are approaching the end of the 1962 session, I seriously doubt if any action will be taken at this time."

While others were talking about him, Tawes received two endorsements in Baltimore's 4th District.

Two Negro Democratic clubs came out for Tawes.

There are more Negro voters than white in the district where Jack Pollack, the long-time leader, has endorsed George P. Mahoney against Tawes.

Meanwhile, David Hume, a third candidate for the Democratic nomination, denied again he had solicited support of Pollack.

"There can be no peaceful co-existence in the Democratic party between my creed of politics and the sordid concept of practical politics spouted by Pollack and George Mahoney," Hume stated.

County Students To Get Job Placement Service

With summer nearly here, high school students of Allegany County who are interested in part-time jobs while on vacation may apply for employment today at the Employment Security Office on North Mechanic Street.

This is the second year the service is being provided for students between the ages of 16 and 18, said Mrs. Anna Deremer, placement interviewer, who said the Youth Employment Service is backed by the Allegany County Youth Commission.

Today the office will be open from 9 a.m. until noon for the convenience of the young job seekers who will be assisted in completing their applications by students enrolled in the commercial classes of LaSalle, Fort Hill, Allegany high schools and Ursuline Academy.

Mrs. Deremer said the office will also be open during the same hours on Saturday May 12, 19 and 26.

The project is county-wide, according to Mrs. Deremer who said that last year about 310 applications were received.

The volunteer "interviewers" from the four local high schools will undergo a training class this morning and will be briefed on reception, registration, job placement and switchboard operations.

She pointed out that correspondence coupled with telephone calls will be utilized to "uncover jobs" for the students.

Mrs. Deremer said the job opportunities include stock boys, mechanic helpers, store clerks, clerical workers, car washers, delivery boys, domestic service, grass cutters and hedge trimmers.

President of the youth commission is Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie.

Organization Of Church Set Here Sunday

The Baptist Chapel of Cumberland will formally be organized tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. under the name of The Memorial Heights Baptist Church.

The address will be given by Rev. Robert F. Woodward of Frederick, who is president of The Baptist Convention of Maryland.

Pastors and friends of the Western Association of Baptists are expected to attend the day's activities which will begin with Sunday School at 9:45 a.m.

During the morning worship Rev. Walter Agnor of Dover, Del., will climax a week's evangelistic crusade speaking on "The Church, God's Voice In The World."

At noon a fellowship luncheon will be served in the social hall, session. I seriously doubt if any action will be taken at this time."

Afterwards the constituting service will be held in the church at which time the formal organization will be completed.

The new church will continue to worship temporarily in the building which was formerly the Holy Cross Episcopal Church, 16 Virginia Avenue. Under the leadership of Rev. Archie McIntyre the new church will endeavor to build in the Johnson Heights area.

City Firemen Get Two Calls

City firemen answered two calls yesterday.

East Side "broke in" its new 1,000 gallon American LaFrance "Spartan" pumper when firemen of that station responded to a grass and brush fire on Valley Road at 5:20 p.m.

Firemen from Central station got a call at 11:39 p.m. and went to the Cumberland Brewery where an auto fire was out on arrival.

New Creek Boy Ordered Jailed For Larceny

An 18-year-old New Creek, W. Va. youth, Terry R. Kookan, was sentenced yesterday afternoon to a year in the Mineral County Jail on a petit larceny charge to which he entered a plea of guilty on Thursday in Keyser.

Judge David E. Cuppett Jr. in Mineral County Circuit Court said the court had also found that he had violated his probation in all three respects according to the terms handed down when he was placed on probation during the January term of Circuit Court.

Howard P. Shores, defense counsel, requested that Kookan's parents be allowed time to have the boy undergo a medical examination. The court granted the request but said all reports are to be in the hands of Judge Cuppett before June 1. The youth must remain under jurisdiction of the Sheriff at all times and the examinations will be made at the expense of the parents.

James Ronald Pyles, 21, Keyser, who also entered a plea of guilty on the petit larceny count, was sentenced to a year in the county jail but the court allowed him time to present matters in support of a request for probation made by his counsel, Vernon E. Rankin, which will be heard later in the term.

Both were indicted Tuesday for grand larceny but the state accepted a plea of guilty to the lesser charge Thursday.

In other court action Attorneys Rankin and H. G. Shores, defense counsel for John J. Gentile, 46-year-old Piedmont man charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, Ralph Lepley, filed a motion for continuance yesterday morning before Judge Cuppett, after the latter had overruled a plea of abatement and set the trial for May 21.

The motion was made on the grounds that an eye witness to the incident is pregnant and probably would be confined at the time the case was set for hearing. The hearing on that matter was set for 10:30 a.m. today.

In its plea of abatement, the defense said witnesses who went before the grand jury didn't give sufficient evidence to bring an indictment according to statements furnished defense counsel by the prosecuting attorney.

The court granted probation to three defendants and two other hearings for probation were continued to next week.

Johnson L. Gurganus, who pleaded guilty to willful burning of an insured motor vehicle, was placed on probation for three years, a 1 to 5 year term in the penitentiary was suspended. He was ordered to make restitution of $25 a month to either the insurance company or the bank. His pastor and a number of other persons testified in support of probation.

Arthur Floyd Trenter, sentenced Thursday to from one to 10 years in the penitentiary on grand larceny, also was granted a probation for three years. His restitution was set at $5 per week. Probation was granted with the stipulation that he obtain employment with C. A. Millar.

Ernest Lancaster Kline, indicted for forgery and sentenced to from two to 10 years in the penitentiary, was placed on probation for three years with the condition being that he return to authorities in Hardy and Hampshire counties and answer forgery charges.

Anna L. Ferguson, charged on two indictments of forgery, was granted a continuance of her probation hearing to May 9. The hearing for probation of Robert Allen McNemar, indicted for illegal sale of property under a conditional sales contract, was continued to May 10.

Woman Held For Grand Jury

Susan Adele Bates of 330 Estelita Street, who was arrested earlier this week in connection with the knife wounding of a local man, yesterday was given a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court and ordered held for action of the grand jury of the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Trial Magistrate Paul Barnett set bond at $500 and the woman was taken to Allegany County Jail in default of bond on a charge of the assault of Raymond Cleggett, 37, of 116 South Lee Street on Tuesday morning.

Cleggett, who was wounded in the left shoulder with two thrusts of the knife, was reported in "satisfactory" condition last night in Sacred Heart Hospital where he underwent surgery, authorities said.

The stabbing occurred at the Bates home during a incident, according to authorities, who said a statement was taken by City Police Detective Captain James E. Van and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

One Patuxent Inmate Freed, Two Returned

Hearings Held At Court House

One inmate of the Patuxent Institution was freed yesterday but two others were recommitted as still defective delinquents after hearings in Allegany County Circuit Court.

In all three cases it as the second defective delinquent hearing in Circuit Court here.

Phillip L. Miller, 24, of Springfield, W. Va., was granted his freedom yesterday morning by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey. Miller was represented by Attorney George R. Hughes Jr.

The Springfield man was sentenced July 23, 1958, to a term not to exceed two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males on a breaking and entering charge. Later he was transferred to Patuxent. After his first hearing as a defective delinquent in Circuit Court here February 26, 1960, he as recommitted.

A second inmate, Nelson C. Bloss, 26, of Gay Street, was recommitted to Patuxent by Judge Cobey as still a defective delinquent. Bloss, who was represented by Attorney Thomas N. Berry, was sentenced by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris on February 19, 1959, to a term not to exceed one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Males with a recommendation that he be transferred to Patuxent. The charge was contributing to the delinquency of a three-year-old girl.

Yesterday afternoon, Judge Harris recommitted Wilfred C. Simmons, 41-year-old former local man to Patuxent, after two testifying psychiatrists gave conflicting views as to whether Simmons might be safely released to society.

Dr. Harold W. Boslow, director of Patuxent Institution, testified that Simmons has made considerable improvement at Patuxent, where he now is placed on the fourth level. Although he has required disciplinary action only once, Simmons is still not emotionally stable, Dr. Boslow contended.

Dr. Richard W. Trevaskis Jr., local psychiatrist, who examined Simmons earlier this week at the County Jail, concluded that it would be reasonably safe to release Simmons to society as long as he is directed to abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages.

Simmons was sentenced by Judge Harris on March 19, 1958, to five years in the Maryland House of Correction and was soon transferred to Patuxent. He was sentenced on a charge of maiming a local woman.

Judge Harris did stipulate in his order that Simmons now has fulfilled his obligation insofar as his five-year sentence is concerned and may be released after additional therapy when the officials of Patuxent are convinced that he can be released without danger to society.

Abe Burrows Slaps Video 'Naiveness'

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—Abe Burrows chides television for pussy-footing in its subject matter. And he's not talking about risqué or daring subjects but about legitimate sources of drama.

"I can't think of one hit Broadway show," Burrows says, "which you could have sold to television before it became a hit. Look at some of them—'Guys and Dolls' was about a missionary and a gambler. Can you imagine television buying that before it was a hit? Or 'My Fair Lady'. All you would have had to say was 'Shaw' and the television producers would have said no. Or 'Kiss Me Kate'—Shakespeare. Or 'How to Succeed'—a show about big business."

"Oh, after they became hits, sure, television would go for them, but not before. Television just doesn't take a chance."

But Burrows does. Besides his success on Broadway ('How to Succeed' is the latest), he's currently appearing approximately twice a week on Mike Wallace's syndicated interview show, PM. Although it is currently on only 15 stations, Burrows is satisfied.

"I'm doing it," he says, "because I enjoy performing. I enjoy having a forum, I enjoy talking on many subjects. I can't do this when I have to do a routine on a variety program, so this is fun for me. But I wouldn't like to say I'm doing it for kicks—to me, life is for kicks."

Burrows is a writer, director, performer, composer. Using all these talents is, he thinks, a good way to sharpen each.

"When I write for a long time," he says, "I get stale. Then I do something else and that sharpens my writing."

There are still some other things he wants to try—directing a movie, for example, or furnishing both lyrics and music for a Broadway musical.

Anne Jackson No TV Snob, She'd Like To Have Series

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—It's fashionable among New York theater actors to turn up their noses at television series. The general feeling is that a series is OK if an actor is just out for money, but for anyone with artistic integrity — "My dear, I wouldn't be caught dead in one."

Anne Jackson offers a refreshing change from that phony philosophy.

"I'm throwing my dice on the table," says Miss Jackson. "I just made a pilot film with Walter Matthau of a series based on S. J. Perelman's book, 'Acres and Pairs'. It'll be seen on the GE Theater probably some time in May, and I sure hope it sells."

"My idea is to become a name. The best way to become a name is with a television series. Once I'm a name I can get better Broadway parts. You see, the way the Broadway theater is today, there's no continuity. You can get good reviews and be somebody for two or three years, but then somebody else comes along and then you have to scrounge for parts—unless you have a big name."

"Around Broadway, there just are too many actors looking for the same parts. Naturally, the producer gives the big parts to the biggest name he can get."

"Even then, of course, that's no guarantee of success. Even big names have flops, but at least, they get cracks at big parts."

Miss Jackson, who is Mrs. Eli Wallach off stage, is one of those lucky girls who can play anything. She started doing comedy; at one time, she even worked up an act which included impressions of Sonja Henie, Shirley Temple and Charles Laughton. Currently, she's appearing off-Broadway in the successful serious work, "Brecht On Brecht," with Viveca Lindfors. The television series, should it sell, would return her to comedy.

The Wallachs have three children. The oldest is Peter, who is 11. And Anne (who once wanted to be a writer) thinks that Peter has inherited that bent.

"He wrote a short story," she says, "which started out like this: 'My name is Peter Wallach. I am a serf'. I was proud of his humility until I read a bit further and discovered that he quickly became a squire, then a knight and finally a prince."

"It ended when the king offered him his daughter's hand in marriage, and he said, 'No, thank you, I think I'll avenge my father's death.'"

ANNE JACKSON

It all sounds like a good scenario for a television show.

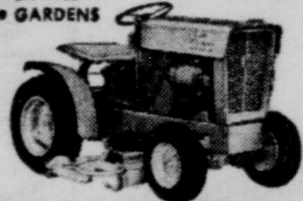

Quiz Prize Not Kosher, Housewife Makes Swap

A Long Island housewife, appearing as a contestant on "Camouflage," recently was awarded among her prizes 48 pounds of ham. On receiving the award, she thanked host Don Morrow, but claimed she'd have to forego the meat since she kept a kosher home.

The following day, Morrow announced that "Camouflage" would make a swap. She turned in the ham for 48 lbs. of kosher steak.

Mobile Homes On Farms Get Amended Rules

Only One Paragraph Will Be Changed

An amended version of an addition to Allegany County's interim zoning ordinance pertaining to mobile homes on farms was approved by the Board of County Commissioners yesterday.

Paragraph (e) of Section 9 was amended yesterday on motion of Commissioner John J. Rowan, and seconded by Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon. The amended version as recommended by Earl E. Mangas as attorney for the County Farm Bureau at a public hearing Thursday night.

The amended version reads as follows:

(e) Provided, however, that on a farm any private mobile home or trailer house without qualifications or conditions except for the requirements of the Health Department, shall be permitted on condition that such mobile home or trailer house shall be located at least 100 feet from any permanent dwelling on adjacent property and shall comply with the setback requirements in Section 10.

Two Changes

This version had two changes from the paragraph as recommended by the County Planning and Zoning Commission to the county commissioners on April 10. The first change eliminated the requirement that the mobile home had to be incidental to the farm operation by striking out these words:

"Which is incidental and accessory to the operation of such farm or is occupied by members of the farm family or by any family engaged primarily in work in such farm." Mr. Mangas pointed out that this deletion is necessary to allow retired farmers to live in mobile homes on their farms.

The second change from the paragraph as recommended by the Planning and Zoning Commission was a reduction from 400 to 100 feet the distance which a farm mobile home must be located from any permanent dwelling on adjacent property.

Mr. Mangas also submitted a written recommendation to the county commissioners that Paragraph (c) of Section 9, which pertains to mobile homes in all residence districts, be amended by reducing the floor area requirements for such mobile homes from 500 square feet to 280 square feet.

Paragraph (e) already has eliminated all floor area requirements for mobile homes on farms.

Floor Area
Commissioners Rowan and Shinnamon indicated at Thursday night's hearing that they would approve the amendment to Paragraph (c) reducing the floor area requirements from 500 to 300 square feet.

Leslie J. Clark, county attorney, said they were persuaded yesterday that there was no need to amend paragraph (c) because it pertains to mobile homes in residence districts, not on farms.

The Farm Bureau attorney did not request any changes in two other paragraphs which had been recommended to the county commissioners by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Paragraph (f) of Section 9 of the interim zoning ordinance would permit mobile homes, trailer homes, tents or camps for seasonal use in connection with recreational, hunting or fishing use provided they are located 400 feet from any permanent dwelling on adjacent property and comply with the setback requirements.

Another paragraph was added to Section 11 of the ordinance permitting mobile homes and other temporary buildings incidental to construction work for a limit of two years.

No changes were recommended in these two paragraphs by the Farm Bureau.

Mr. Clark will prepare a revised version of the ordinance including the approved amendments.

Commissioner John T. Mason said he was in favor of approving the three paragraphs as recommended by the County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Man Arrested In Car Theft

A 20-year-old local man was arrested by city police in connection with the theft of a car belonging to a Cash Valley Road resident.

Ronald Keith Hare of 2 Elizabeth Street is being held in Allegany County Jail pending action which may be taken by federal authorities, said City Police Detective Captain James E. Van.

The car owned by Victor Wonn was stolen from a local parking lot.

When questioned by Van, young Hare said he noticed the car on the lot and the keys were in the switch.

He said he drove it on Cumberland streets and headed across the bridge into Ridgeley and motored to Short Gap and returned to Wiley Ford where he abandoned it after the clutch burned out.

Hare told Van he walked back to Maryland. The young man was arrested by city police at 12:30 a.m. yesterday.

Young Demos Urged To Vote For Gov. Tawes

Gallagher Defends Savings-Loan Veto

By The Associated Press
Francis X. Gallagher, 34-year-old People's Counsel for the Public Service Commission and former state delegate, urged other young Maryland Democrats Friday to vote for Gov. Tawes in the May 15 primary.

"I admire Gov. J. Millard Tawes as a person and as a leader," Gallagher said in a Baltimore television appearance. "I admire him for his temperate manner, his ability, his singleness of purpose and his abiding concern for Maryland."

"I earnestly recommend his re-nomination and re-election," Gallagher said he was addressing himself "particularly to the young men and women of Maryland whose concern revolves around issues rather than personalities and who are interested in a calm, rational and temperate discussion of the challenges which face our state government."

Cites Court Bill

Gallagher said that as a delegate from Baltimore's 3rd District in 1956-61, he could testify to the support which Gov. Tawes gave to passage of a municipal court bill, better motor vehicle laws and creation of a metropolitan transit authority.

Gallagher also defended the 1960 veto by Gov. Tawes of a bill to regulate savings and loan associations.

"Although some have attempted to make political capital out of the governor's veto," Gallagher said, "I think it should be made clear that the bill was only stop gap legislation, that it was severely amended, and that its enactment into law might have provided an excuse for opponents of regulatory control to effectively block the passage of the Case bill."

A commission headed by Richard Case drafted another bill which Gov. Tawes supported all the way and signed in 1961.

A Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate nomination, Elbert M. Byrd Jr., raised a question about Tawes' leadership in the legislature, however.

Byrd, citing the cloud of uncertainty over the unit vote system in the primary, recalled a letter he had written Gov. Tawes last Feb. 7 shortly after the legislature convened.

Byrd urged Tawes "to take strong action in this legislative session to bring about abolition of the unit vote system in Maryland."

Gets Endorsements

Byrd said the governor did not reply until March 7 when he said after discussing the question with his legislative leaders "as we are approaching the end of the 1962 session, I seriously doubt if any action will be taken at this time."

While others were talking about him, Tawes received two endorsements in Baltimore's 4th District. Two Negro Democratic clubs came out for Tawes.

There are more Negro voters than white in the district where Jack Pollack, the long-time leader, has endorsed George P. Mahoney against Tawes.

Meanwhile, David Hume, a third candidate for the Democratic nomination, denied again he had solicited support of Pollack.

"There can be no peaceful co-existence in the Democratic party between my creed of politics and the sordid concept of practical politics spouted by Pollack and George Mahoney," Hume stated.

The latest model blood bank, to be displayed in the new laboratories at Sacred Heart Hospital during Open House Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. in recognition of National Hospital Week, is previewed by Mrs. Harry Beneman, chairman of the Allegany County Red Cross Blood Program, and Dr. Nicholas Giarritta, Sacred Heart pathologist. The public is invited to the Sacred Heart Open House, which will include a tour of the many innovations made at the institution during the past year—to be followed by refreshments in the hospital lounge.

County Students To Get Job Placement Service

With summer nearly here, high school students of Allegany County who are interested in part-time jobs while on vacation may apply for employment today at the Employment Security Office on North Mechanic Street.

This is the second year the service is being provided for students between the ages of 16 and 18, said Mrs. Anna Deremer, placement interviewer, who said the Youth Employment Service is backed by the Allegany County Youth Commission.

Today the office will be open from 9 a.m. until noon for the convenience of the young job seekers who will be assisted in completing their applications by students enrolled in the commercial classes of LaSalle, Fort Hill, Allegany high schools and Ursuline Academy.

Mrs. Deremer said the office will also be open during the same hours on Saturday May 12, 19 and 26.

The project is county-wide, according to Mrs. Deremer who said that last year about 310 applications were received.

The volunteer "interviewers" from the four local high schools will undergo a training class this morning and will be briefed on reception, registration, job placement and switchboard operations. She pointed out that correspondence coupled with telephone calls will be utilized to "uncover jobs" for the students.

Mrs. Deremer said the job opportunities include stock boys, mechanic helpers, store clerks, clerical workers, car washers, delivery boys, domestic service, grass cutters and hedge trimmers.

President of the youth commission is Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie.

During the morning worship Rev. Walter Agnor of Dover, Del. will climax a week's evangelistic crusade speaking on "The Church, God's Voice In The World."

At noon a fellowship luncheon will be served in the social hall. Afterwards the constituting service will be held in the church at which time the formal organization will be completed.

The new church will continue to worship temporarily in the building which was formerly the Holy Cross Episcopal Church, 16 Virginia Avenue. Under the leadership of Rev. Archie McIntyre the new church will endeavor to build in the Johnson Heights area.

City Firemen Get Two Calls

City firemen answered two calls yesterday.

East Side "broke in" its new 1,000 gallon American LaFrance "Spartan" pumper when firemen of that station responded to a grass and brush fire on Valley Road at 5:20 p.m.

Firemen from Central station got a call at 11:39 p.m. and went to the Cumberland Brewery where an auto fire was out on arrival.

New Creek Boy Ordered Jailed For Larceny

An 18-year-old New Creek, W. Va. youth, Terry R. Kookan, was sentenced yesterday afternoon to a year in the Mineral County Jail on a petit larceny charge to which he entered a plea of guilty on Thursday in Keyser.

Judge David E. Cuppett Jr. in Mineral County Circuit Court said the court had also found that he had violated his probation in all three respects according to the terms handed down when he was placed on probation during the January term of Circuit Court.

Howard P. Shores, defense counsel, requested that Kookan's parents be allowed time to have the boy undergo a medical examination. The court granted the request but said all reports are to be in the hands of Judge Cuppett before June 1. The youth must remain under jurisdiction of the Sheriff at all times and the examinations will be made at the expense of the parents.

James Ronald Pyles, 21, Keyser, who also entered a plea of guilty on the petit larceny count, was sentenced to a year in the county jail but the court allowed him time to present matters in support of a request for probation made by his counsel, Vernon E. Rankin, which will be heard later in the term.

Both were indicted Tuesday for grand larceny but the state accepted a plea of guilty to the lesser charge Thursday.

In other court action Attorneys Rankin and H. G. Shores, defense counsel for John J. Gentile, 46-year-old Piedmont man charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, Ralph Lepley, filed a motion for continuance yesterday morning before Judge Cuppett, after the latter had overruled a plea of abatement and set the trial for May 21.

The motion was made on the grounds that an eye witness to the incident is pregnant and probably would be confined at the time the case was set for hearing. The hearing on that matter was set for 10:30 a.m. today.

In its plea of abatement, the defense said witnesses who went before the grand jury didn't give sufficient evidence to bring an indictment according to state-mens furnished defense counsel by the prosecuting attorney.

The court granted probation to three defendants and two other hearings for probation were continued to next week.

Johnson L. Gurganus, who pleaded guilty to willful burning of an insured motor vehicle, was placed on probation for three years, a 1 to 5 year term in the penitentiary was suspended. He was ordered to make restitution of $25 a month to either the insurance company or the bank. His pastor and a number of other persons testified in support of probation.

Arthur Floyd Trenter, sentenced Thursday to from one to 10 years in the penitentiary on grand larceny, also was granted a probation for three years. His restitution was set at $5 per week. Probation was granted with the stipulation that he obtains employment with C. A. Millar.

Ernest Lancaster Kline, indicted for forgery and sentenced to from two to 10 years in the penitentiary, was placed on probation for three years with the condition being that he return to authorities in Hardy and Hampshire counties and answer for forgery charges.

Anna L. Ferguson, charged on two indictments of forgery, was granted a continuance of her probation hearing to May 9. The hearing for probation of Robert Allen McNemar, indicted for illegal sale of property under a conditional sales contract, was continued to May 10.

Woman Held For Grand Jury

Susan Adele Bates of 330 Estel-la Street, who was arrested earlier this week in connection with the knife wounding of a local man, yesterday was given a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court and ordered held for action of the grand jury of the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Trial Magistrate Paul Barnett set bond at $500 and the woman was taken to Allegany County Jail in default of bond on a charge of the assault of Raymond Cleggett, 37, of 116 South Lee Street on Tuesday morning.

Cleggett, who was wounded in the left shoulder with two thrusts of the knife, was reported in "satisfactory" condition last night in Sacred Heart Hospital where he underwent surgery, authorities said.

The stabbing occurred at the Bates home during an incident, according to authorities, who said a statement was taken by City Police Detective Captain James E. Van and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilly.

One Patuxent Inmate Freed, Two Returned

Hearings Held At Court House

One inmate of the Patuxent Institution was freed yesterday but two others were recommitted as still defective delinquents after hearings in Allegany County Circuit Court.

In all three cases it was the second defective delinquent hearing in Circuit Court here.

Phillip L. Miller, 24, of Springfield, W. Va., was granted his freedom yesterday morning by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey. Miller was represented by Attorney George R. Hughes Jr.

The Springfield man was sentenced July 23, 1958, to a term not to exceed two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males on a breaking and entering charge. Later he was transferred to Patuxent. After his first hearing as a defective delinquent in Circuit Court here February 26, 1960, he was recommitted.

A second inmate, Nelson C. Bloss, 26, of Gay Street, was recommitted to Patuxent by Judge Cobey as still a defective delinquent. Bloss, who was represented by Attorney Thomas N. Berry, was sentenced by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris on February 19, 1959, to a term not to exceed one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Males with a recommendation that he be transferred to Patuxent. The charge was contributing to the delinquency of a three-year-old girl.

Yesterday afternoon, Judge Harris recommitted Wilfred C. Simmons, 41-year-old former local man to Patuxent, after two testifying psychiatrists gave conflicting views as to whether Simmons might be safely released to society.

Dr. Harold W. Boslow, director of Patuxent Institution, testified that Simmons has made considerable improvement at Patuxent, where he now is placed on the fourth level. Although he has required disciplinary action only once, Simmons is still not emotionally stable, Dr. Boslow contended.

Dr. Richard W. Trevaskis Jr., local psychiatrist, who examined Simmons earlier this week at the County Jail, concluded that it would be reasonably safe to release Simmons to society as long as he is directed to abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages.

Simmons was sentenced by Judge Harris on March 19, 1958, to five years in the Maryland House of Correction and was soon transferred to Patuxent. He was sentenced on a charge of maiming a local woman.

Judge Harris did stipulate in his order that Simmons now has fulfilled his obligation insofar as his five-year sentence is concerned and may be released after additional therapy when the officials of Patuxent are convinced that he can be released without danger to society.

Abe Burrows Slaps Video 'Naiveness'

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—Abe Burrows chides television for pussy-footing in its subject matter. And he's not talking about risque or daring subjects but about legitimate sources of drama.

"I can't think of one hit Broadway show," Burrows says, "which you could have sold to television before it became a hit. Look at some of them—'Guys and Dolls' was about a missionary and a gambler. Can you imagine television buying that before it was a hit? Or 'My Fair Lady'. All you would have had to say was 'Shaw' and the television producers would have said no. Or 'Kiss Me Kate'—Shakespeare. Or 'How to Succeed'—a show about big business."

"Oh, after they became hits, sure, television would go for them, but not before. Television just doesn't take a chance."

But Burrows does. Besides his success on Broadway, "How to Succeed" is the latest, he's currently appearing approximately twice a week on Mike Wallace's syndicated interview show, PM. Although it is currently on only 15 stations, Burrows is satisfied.

"I'm doing it," he says, "because I enjoy performing. I enjoy having a forum, I enjoy talking on many subjects. I can't do this when I have to do a routine on a variety program, so this is fun for me. But I wouldn't like to say I'm doing it for kicks—to me, life is for kicks."

Burrows is a writer, director, performer, composer. Using all these talents is, he thinks, a good way to sharpen each.

"When I write for a long time," he says, "I get stale. Then I do something else and that sharpens my writing."

There are still some other things he wants to try—directing a movie, for example, or furnishing both lyrics and music for a Broadway musical.

Anne Jackson No TV Snob, She'd Like To Have Series

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—It's fashionable among New York theater actors to turn up their noses at television series. The general feeling is that a series is OK if an actor is just out for money, but for anyone with artistic integrity — "My dear, I wouldn't be caught dead in one."

Anne Jackson offers a refreshing change from that phony philosophy.

"I'm throwing my dice on the table," says Miss Jackson. "I just made a pilot film with Walter Matthau of a series based on S. J. Perelman's book, 'Acres and Pairs'. It'll be seen on the GE Theater probably some time in May, and I sure hope it sells."

"My idea is to become a name. The best way to become a name is with a television series. Once I'm a name I can get better Broadway parts. You see, the way the Broadway theater is today, there's no continuity. You can get good reviews and be somebody for two or three years, but then somebody else comes along and then you have to scrounge for parts—unless you have a big name."

"Around Broadway, there just are too many actors looking for the same parts. Naturally, the producer gives the big parts to the biggest name he can get."

"Even then, of course, that's no guarantee of success. Even big names have flops, but at least, they get cracks at big parts."

Miss Jackson, who is Mrs. Eli Wallach off stage, is one of those lucky girls who can play anything. She started doing comedy; at one time, she even worked up an act which included impressions of Sonja Henie, Shirley Temple and Charles Laughton. Currently, she's appearing off-Broadway in the successful serious work, "Brecht On Brecht," with Viveca Lindfors. The television series, should it sell, would return her to comedy.

The Wallachs have three children. The oldest is Peter, who is 11. And Anne (who once wanted to be a writer) thinks that Peter has inherited that bent.

"He wrote a short story," she says, "which started out like this: 'My name is Peter Wallach. I am a serf'. I was proud of his humility until I read a bit further and discovered that he quickly became a squire, then a knight and finally a prince."

"It ended when the king offered him his daughter's hand in marriage, and he said, 'No, thank you, I think I'll avenge my father's death.'"

ANNE JACKSON

It all sounds like a good scenario for a television show.

Quiz Prize Not Kosher, Housewife Makes Swap

A Long Island housewife, appearing as a contestant on "Camouflage," recently was awarded among her prizes 48 pounds of ham. On receiving the award, she thanked host Don Morrow, but claimed she'd have to forego the meat since she kept a kosher home.

The following day, Morrow announced that "Camouflage" would make a swap. She turned in the ham for 48 lbs. of kosher steak.

Phone Toll Charges Don't Bother Star's Admirer

Paul Picerni received a prepaid long distance call on the set of "The Untouchables" recently from a young admirer who wanted to "just talk." When Paul realized he didn't know his caller, he suggested she hang up. "You don't want to run up a big phone bill on your folks," he said. "Oh, the charges don't worry me," the caller assured him. "I'm not at home. I'm baby sitting."

Woman Brings 'Religion Revolution'

Doris Ann, one of the very few women producers in network television, is manager of all the National Broadcasting Company's TV religious programs. The 600 network shows she has produced have revolutionized religious programming.
Tune in on a religious show on TV these days and you are likely to see a gripping drama about juvenile delinquents or a musical revue dealing satirically with life in the suburbs.
As executive producer of the weekly NBC television religious program since its start 11 years ago, Miss Ann can, but characteristically doesn't, take much of the credit for the big change.

Phone Toll Charges Don't Bother Star's Admirer

Paul Picerni received a prepaid long distance call on the set of "The Untouchables" recently from a young admirer who wanted to "just talk." When Paul realized he didn't know his caller, he suggested she hang up. "You don't want to run up a big phone bill on your folks," he said. "Oh, the charges don't worry me," the caller assured him. "I'm not at home. I'm baby sitting."

Woman Brings 'Religion Revolution'

Doris Ann, one of the very few women producers in network television, is manager of all the National Broadcasting Company's TV religious programs. The 600 network shows she has produced have revolutionized religious programming.

Tune in on a religious show on TV these days and you are likely to see a gripping drama about juvenile delinquents or a musical revue dealing satirically with life in the suburbs.

As executive producer of the weekly NBC Television religious program since its start 11 years ago, Miss Ann can, but characteristically doesn't, take much of the credit for the big change.
